BLAINE THE MAN

Upon Whom the Republicans Will Concentrate.

IT NOW SEEMS TO BE THE PLAN

For Little Mr. Harrison and His Grandpa's Hat

GET OUT OF THE WAY AT ONCE,

And Leave the Track Clear for the Statesman from Maine, Who Will Lead His Party.

Washington, May 23.—(Special.)—Unless Mr. Blaine writes a letter, positively refusing to accept the nomination, he will be the republican nominee for president.

That is as definitely fixed as anything political can be, and the possibilities of his declining are almost infinitesimal.

The thing is, indeed, fixed. A senator who is in a position to know, if the future can be foretold, told me today that there was no longer any doubt about the republican nomination.

Blaine Will Be Named.

"Mr. Blaine's name," said he, "will be the only one before the convention. He will make no further statements between now and the meeting of the convention. He has said he does not desire it, but the party wants him, and he will not decline to answer the call. Mr. Harrison already sees the direction of the wind, and will make it known that he does not desire a second term. That is all—you will find it correct.

"All republicans in both branches of congress including the president's closest friends, though few they are, talked on the same line today. Indeed, there is no longer any doubt in the minds of any of them of the truthfulness of the assertion that Blaine will be the republican nominee."

The fight in the convention will be over a vice president. Alger and Uncle Jerry Rusk are the most prominent candidates. Clarkson, Platt and Quay, since they have fixed the Blaine programme, are now endeavoring to fix it for Alger to be the vice presidential nominee, but the sentiment among the rank and file of the party is very strong for Uncle Jerry. Still Alger has a barrel, which gives him a great advantage.

In Blaine's nomination, which we may consider practically settled, there is great danger to the south. Mr. Blaine is the most popular man in the republican party with the southern people. He has always been our friend. No man in either party did more to defeat the force bill of 1873, or that of 1891. His moral support of our cause and his open assertion that in the attempt to enact it the republican party was making a blunder, strengthened the opposition materially. Blaine, though the second man in the administration which advocated it, spoke out against it. Now, suppose the democracy nominates Cleveland, and the republicans hoist their flag over Blaine, what will be the result in the south?

What It May Mean.

Mr. Cleveland is opposed to the free coinage of silver. The silver men of the west are for Blaine. They are unanimous for him, and the assumption is that they, at least, believe Mr. Blaine would not veto a free coinage bill. Now let us look more closely into the situation. If Harrison was nominated, our people would unite and fight him in fear of a force bill, but if Blaine is the nominee they will know there is no danger of a force bill. They would know that he would veto one and would therefore have no fear of him. On the other hand, they would be averse to Mr. Cleveland's silver views, and thousands of farmers who are already on the verge of the third party pasture, would bolt the fence and join the fold. Such action on the part of two old parties would give the third party an impetus of mammoth proportions.

Discussed by Southern Men.

This very thing has been discussed here by southern men today, and many have privately expressed their opinion that if the republicans nominate Blaine the democracy cannot afford to take Mr. Cleveland. Even the most ardent of Mr. Cleveland's admirers from the south look upon the situation with alarm, and are more willing to discuss the question of a compromise candidate.

The Savannah Appropriation.

The apparent alarm of the Savannah people, and of all Georgia, over the reductions the senate made in the Savannah harbor appropriation of the river and harbor bill, is without cause. Savannah's appropriation is all right. The senate's action will not deprive the harbor of one cent of money. In the bill, as it passed the house, there was a provision placing Savannah harbor under the contract system. That is, the bill authorized the secretary of war to give out a contract for making in Savannah harbor a twenty-six-foot channel at a cost of about $3,000,000. Then there was an appropriation of more than $400,000 to be made immediately available. This latter appropriation was reduced about 25 per cent. All the other harbors were reduced in like proportion. The reduction, however, will not affect the work at Savannah at all. The contract for deepening the harbor will be given out and the work commenced at once. The money appropriated in the bill will be the first paid to the contractor. The work will go on and appropriations will be made by each congress, to be paid by the secretary of war to the contractor in accordance with the agreement to be made between the two. Thus, the cut of the senate only makes the first payment smaller, but will not affect the completion of the work, nor will it delay it.

The chances are that the house will not attempt to substitute the original figures of the bill, but will content itself with an acceptance of the senate's reduction.

FORAKER'S OPINION.

Blaine Will Get the Nomination and Be Elected.

Cincinnati, May 23.—Ex-Governor Foraker has furnished a statement of his views of the republican political situation written by himself late tonight. Governor Foraker was asked:

"What about the Sherman movement?"

"Well, I don't know much about it beyond what I see in the newspapers; but manifestly there are a good many republicans who are disposed to favor him in preference to Harrison, especially in New York, Pennsylvania and the New England states."

"What about Ohio?"

"I think that if it should come to a test between Harrison and Sherman the senator would have practically the solid support of the state. But I don't expect to see that come to pass. It is my opinion that Blaine will be nominated. His letter does not rule him out except only in the sense of becoming a candidate. That he will not be and has not been. His letter was sincere and appropriate. It showed an appreciation of the situation and loyalty to his chief. But when it comes to a matter of making a president the party has a right to be heard. This is particularly true at this time. With Mr. Blaine success would be assured, while with Harrison it would be a hard fight, to say the best of it. I think this is the opinion generally entertained. Those who entertain it do not mean when they express it to attack Harrison or to disparage what he has done. We want for our candidate the strongest and most popular leader we have. That man is unquestionably Blaine. He outranks all of them, especially just now when the policy of reciprocity is developing so grandly and proving so acceptable. Blaine is especially representative and champion of this idea."

"Do you think his health is good enough to admit of his being a candidate?"

"I have no uneasiness about his health. There are some people in this country who have been killing Blaine off for the last twenty years. They have not had much success. His administration of the state department has been a fair test of his powers of endurance. As to the campaign, he won't do much. So far as his part is concerned, it will take care of itself. After writing a short letter of acceptance, he can go along with his duties in the state department, retire to Bar Harbor, or do as he likes. He will be elected as he will be nominated, because of what he has already done."

THE SPECIE BUTLER TOOK.

Claim of the Citizens' Bank of Louisiana Referred to the Court of Claims.

Washington, May 23.—In the senate Mr. Vest offered a resolution, which was laid on the table for the present, discharging the committee on finance from further consideration of the house bill to put wool on the free list and to reduce duties on woolen goods and directing the committee to report the bill back to the senate for its action thereon.

The senate bill appropriating $50,000 for an equestrian statue of General Francis Marion, at Columbia, S. C., was taken from the calendar and passed.

The calendar was then taken up. Among the bills passed was the following: Referring to the court of claims, the claim of the Citizens' Bank of Louisiana for specie taken from the bank by General Butler, with an amendment excluding the allowance of interest.

At 2 o'clock the calendar was laid aside and "unfinished business" taken up, being the senate bill to provide for the punishment of violations of the treaty rights of aliens.

Mr. Dolph, who introduced the bill and who afterwards reported it from the committee on foreign relations made an explanation of it as being very simple in its provisions—merely making an act which constitutes crime under state statutes a crime when committed against the subject of a foreign country and making it punishable in the United States courts.

A good deal of objection was made to the bill. Mr. Palmer suggested as one objection that congress had no power to pass a law which would operate differently in forty-four different states of the same country.

Mr. Gray, taking the same view, remarked that it was absurd to suppose that congress should pass a criminal code that could be repealed or modified by forty-four different sovereignties. Mr. Vilas favored the reference of the bill to the judiciary committee and Mr. Harris made a motion to that effect, but Mr. Teller wished to have it recommitted to the committee on foreign relations.

Mr. Morgan, a member of the committee on foreign relations, made an argument in defense and advocacy of the bill.

Without concluding his speech, Mr. Morgan yielded to a motion to adjourn.

THEY BOTH KICKED IN VAIN.

Tom Watson and Kilgore Both Raise Objections in the House.

Washington, May 23.—The house met at 11 o'clock today with less than seventy-five members in attendance.

Mr. Watson, of Georgia, was present with his little objection, which was directed this time to the request of Mr. Butler, of Iowa, for the consideration of the senate bill to grant a pension to ex-Senator George W. Jones, of Iowa. Then Mr. Watson's desire was satisfied, and his resolution requesting the committee on ways and means to report the subtreasury bill was adopted without objection or debate.

Mr. Watson, having achieved his object, withdrew his objection to the Jones pension bill, and, on motion of Mr. Henderson, of Iowa, it was taken up and passed. Mr. Kilgore was also in attendance, and his objection was defeated by the request of Mr. Bryan, of Nebraska, for the consideration of the bill for the erection of a pedestal for the statue to General W. T. Sherman.

Mr. Bailey, of Texas, was also on hand with his demands for a quorum on the private bill called up by Mr. McKinney, of New Hampshire, and almost three-quarters of an hour elapsed before a quorum appeared, and the measure was passed.

The floor was then accorded to the committee on the District of Columbia. The first bill called up was one giving to the district commissioners authority to supervise the management of all street railroad lines within the city.

On motion of Mr. O'Neill, of Missouri, an amendment was adopted providing for all-night cars running at intervals of half an hour. The bill was passed.

The Washington and Tennessee offered an amendment authorizing any railway company to use overhead electric trolley wires in propelling their cars outside of the boundary streets of the city. The amendment was agreed to, and the bill was ordered to its third reading.

Mr. Buchanan, of New Jersey, who had opposed Mr. Washington's amendment, demanded a reading of the engrossed bill. After passing a few more local bills, the house adjourned without final action upon the bill containing the trolley amendment.

ANOTHER FRENCH TRAGEDY,

But in This Affair One Woman Murders Another One.

Paris, May 23.—An affair closely resembling the Deacon tragedy at Nice has occurred in Paris, the difference being that the injured party was a woman who avenged her wrong in a manner almost precisely similar to that adopted by Deacon. The name of the murderess is Madame Reymond, and the name of her victim Madame Delaparte Lassimonne. The murdered woman was a niece of Jean Casimir Perier. The affair has created a tremendous scandal by reason of the prominence of the families interested.

WILLIAM C. WHITNEY

Feels the Presidential Ache in All His Bones,

AND IS LOOKING AFTER THE DELEGATES

He Sees a Possible Chance for a Home in the White House,

AND IS MAKING A PULL FOR IT.

His Friends at Work in Indiana and Ohio, with the Figure of Oliver O. Payne in the Rear.

Washington, May 23.—(Special.)—A Whitney boom is the latest in the democratic situation.

William C. Whitney, the ex-secretary of the navy, has for several months been making a strong play for the democratic nomination.

He Tickles Tammany.

Among his other efforts, he has made overtures to the Tammany bosses, of New York. In all his printed interviews he has taken occasion to defend these men, and, indeed, to speak in high terms of them. Now he is having his friends in Ohio and Indiana pull the strings for him, and within the next forty-eight hours a genuine Whitney boom will be launched.

Ohio May Be for Him.

A prominent Ohio democrat who reached here tonight says Mr. Whitney, through his fathern-in-law, ex-Senator Oliver Payne, is making a great effort to capture the Ohio delegation to Chicago. He is also playing a strong hand among the Indiana delegates already elected and instructed for Gray. The Ohian referred to, is a strong friend of Mr. Whitney, and in a day or two there will be a conference of all men here who look upon Mr. Whitney with favor as a compromise candidate.

What Mr. Cleveland May Do.

Mr. Whitney himself has lately talked with Mr. Cleveland. The latter expresses himself as believing his chances of getting the nomination are fairly good, but he doubted his chances of election. Mr. Whitney believes if, as the convention approaches, Mr. Cleveland sees the fight against him will be bitter, he would be willing to retire in favor of his ex-secretary of the navy. Indeed, Mr. Whitney's friends intimate very strongly tonight that such is the probable programme, but that Mr. Cleveland will do nothing until he sees that Whitney could surely get it in the event of his retirement.

Has Never Antagonized Tammany.

It is also argued in Whitney's favor that he never joined Mr. Cleveland in his antagonism of the organized democracy of New York. That, indeed, the organized democracy, including Tammany, is favorable to him and would agree upon his as a compromise candidate, and that in the event of such a compromise, he could surely carry New York by an enormous majority. They likewise argue that Whitney, on account of his family's large interests in Indiana, would be the strongest man in that state the democrats could nominate.

Might Carry Ohio.

They likewise argue that his chances of carrying Ohio would be good, and that he could raise a campaign fund five times larger than any other democrat mentioned. However that be, the Whitney boom is ready to be launched. The conference of his friends tomorrow or the day after, will decide that, and then the situation will begin to be interesting in the extreme.

POLK FOR PRESIDENT.

The Third Party People Will Present Him for That Office.

Raleigh, N. C., May 23.—(Special.)—The third party in North Carolina is at last regularly organized. Seventy-five counties represented in its convention. W. L. [illegible]ay, of Madison, presided, C. N. Jervis, [illegible]arshall, was secretary. The following was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That this being the first regularly organized people's party convention of the state of North Carolina, we cannot let this occasion pass without saying to the people of the United States that in the person of L. L. Polk, we have the patriot statesman, the Christian gentleman, in whom we have every confidence. His ability, integrity and purity fully qualify him for any position in the gift of the American people, and at Omaha, Neb., in July we propose to present our valued citizen as a candidate for the presidency.

Chairman Lindsay, as the head of the executive committee was directed to take immediate action in having each congressional district represented at Omaha on July 4th. This afternoon he issued an address to the people of the state in behalf of the people's party. In this, county conventions are ordered to be held June 11th and congressional conventions June 16th, the former to choose delegates to the latter and to determine whether they will put a county ticket in the field. The various district conventions will elect four delegates and alternates to the Omaha convention.

The following are announced as having been elected delegates from the state at large to Omaha: Harry Skinner, T. B. Long, Otho Wilson, George E. Hunt, A. C. Shuford, D. H. Gill, A. J. Dally, N. N. Seawell. The alternates are: P. H. Massey, J. M. Bateman, H. Sears, C. N. Jervis, Daniel Worth, H. H. Nichols, J. E. Peirson, O. L. Swinson.

WILL MEET IN MACON.

Southern Presbyterian General Assembly Select Their Next Place of Meeting.

Hot Springs, Ark., May 23.—The Presbyterian general assembly was called to order this morning by Rev C. A. King, moderator, who conducted the devotional exercises. The first business introduced was the report of the committee on the Seamen's Bethel, which was submitted and adopted. The report says that "the assembly having heard with much pleasure the additional report of Chaplain Steele, of New Orleans, the Seamen's Bethel would take occasion to reiterate its interest in religious work among seamen and commend it to sympathy and aid." It testified to the high appreciation of the work of the late Dr. A. J. Witherspoon, founder of Seamen's Bethel, and it expressed the hope that the work may grow and increase until every port on the American coast shall be provided with such a bethel.

A partial report was submitted by the committee on foreign missions. This read as follows:

"The executive committee on foreign missions in Nashville having prepared to confer with the board of foreign missions for the Presbyterian church in the United States of America with the view to preparing a plan of co-operation in foreign mission work—the plan to be reported next year to both assemblies—recommend that the request be granted and that the stated clerk be directed to notify other assemblies of this action at once." The report of the standing committee on colored evangelism was read by Rev. N. J. Rhodes. It dealt with the progress made in the past year among the colored people, recommending all synods to co-operate in the future and urging that $200,000 be raised to continue the work. The report suggested that an invitation be extended to the freedman's board for a conference on the religious culture of the negro. The report was adopted. It was announced that Norfolk, Va., Nashville, Tenn., Greenville, S. C., and Macon, Ga., had extended invitations to the assembly to meet next year at those places. A ballot was taken, which resulted in Macon, Ga., being chosen as the next meeting place.

The assembly then took a recess until 3 o'clock p. m.

SHAVED HIS BEARD OFF

And the Officers Arrested Him for a Train Robber.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 23.—An Orlando special says: The authorities have in the city jail here a man suspected of being a train robber and murderer. He was arrested Saturday afternoon in a barber shop. He came in on a train from Clermont and bought a newspaper in which he read a description of himself. He then went to the shop and ordered his beard shaved off. It is said that he made a confession Sunday implicating three others. A full description of these has been published. The five suspects arrested at Sanford were brought here this afternoon and taken before the suspect here, alleged to have confessed. No reporters were admitted, but it is learned that the suspect here declared that these five from Sanford were not the guilty men. The Orlando people don't believe that the man in jail here has confessed. The authorities give out no information, but at Sanford a circular is afloat that the descriptions of the other men were secured from the Orlando man who is said to have confessed.

AGAINST FREE TRADE.

Speeches at a Meeting of the London Federation League.

London, May 23.—The London branch of the Imperial Federation League held a meeting today at which several protection speeches were made. Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian high commissioner, was one of the speakers. He said that free trade might have been excellent for England, but as it was proving fatal to Canada a policy of incidental taxation had been adopted by Canada in 1878, which had been strongly conducive to the maintenance of her ties with Great Britain. If England continued the speaker, adopted a small protective, non-discriminating tariff, no country would complain. Cobden's theory that all countries would speedily follow England's example by adopting free trade had proved fallacious. Sir Charles did not believe that Cobden would be a free trader if he lived today.

In concluding he said that Canada could produce all of the food that the United States now exports to Great Britain.

Another speaker, Mr. Becker, said that Lord Salisbury had struck the right note in declaring that free trade had gone too far. He advocated a plan to appease Canada by taxing all rival imports from the United States.

BLOWS WERE PASSED.

Judge Somerville and Professor Verner Come Together.

Anniston, Ala., May 23.—(Special.)—An altercation occurred in The Gazette office in Tuskaloosa Friday between H. M. Somerville, formerly associate justice of the supreme court of Alabama, and at present chairman of the United States court of customs at New York, and Professor W. H. Verner, principal of the University High school at Tuskaloosa, in which blows were passed. Only two men witnessed the fracas, and the fact of its occurrence has been kept quiet until now.

The difficulty was over an insulting letter which [illegible] Verner says Judge Somerville wrote [illegible]bout two years ago. The latter has been visiting in Tuskaloosa for a few days, and the two ran across each other Friday for the first time since the letter was written. Judge Somerville's silk hat was badly damaged and Professor Verner had struck him two or three blows in the face before they were separated. Both men are brave and nervy, and the end of the matter may not have yet been reached.

GLANDERS AT MOBILE.

Mules of the Street Railway Stricken with the Disease.

Mobile, Ala., May 23.—Twenty-eight mules of the Mobile Street Railway Company, affected with glanders, have been isolated and eight killed. Seven more were taken with the disease today. The police department ordered the sick mules to be taken from the company's mule hospital at Frascati, a pleasure resort on the bay shore. Some twenty of them were bought on speculation by a physician here, and were to be taken to the country and turned them back. They are now on a common near town, under watch, and will probably be killed tonight or tomorrow. It may be necessary to isolate all the well mules, and if so traffic on the street railway will stop. All mules not known to be affected have been removed to a new stable and possibly the epidemic may be stamped out at this stage of its progress.

His Action Endorsed.

Kansas City, Mo., May 23.—Judge Lane, county judge of Cass county, who is imprisoned here by order of United States Judge Phillips for refusing to comply with the latter's order to issue a special tax levy to pay bonds voted twenty-five years ago in aid of a railway that was never built, received word yesterday that he had been nominated by the democrats of his county as their candidate for the state legislature. The nomination is an endorsement of his course in undergoing imprisonment rather than issue a tax levy against which the sentiment of the county is unanimous.

Showalter Defeated.

New York, May 23.—The fifteenth and last game of the chess match was opened by Showalter with a Ruy Lopez. He obtained a fair game, but soon was troubled by the pressure of time. On the thirteenth move he played his king to R3, which was nothing less than a blunder, and lost the game right off. K KT square instead would have given him a rather better game. Two moves later, the Kentuckian resigned the game and the match. Final score: Lipschult, 7; Showalter, 1; drawn, 7.

He Escaped from the Officers.

Washington, May 23.—A dispatch from London reported the arrest today, at Havre, of O'Brien, the New York bunco steerer, whom the officials of Auburn, N. Y., prison practically turned loose some time ago. Later dispatches reported that O'Brien had escaped from the French officers at Havre. O'Brien sailed from New Orleans on a steamer bound for Havre. All of the state department was invoked, and his arrest followed.

Fire in the Tunnel.

Birmingham, Ala., May 23.—The tunnel on the Georgia Central road, a few miles from this city, is still burning. A great deal of timber is in the tunnel, placed there in its construction to hold up the soft strata of earth. Every effort is making to extinguish the flames but so far without avail. All trains are massed this side of the tunnel. The loss will be heavy.

Murdering the Christians.

Hong Kong, May 23.—Fresh anti-Christian disturbances have occurred in Manchue, and in districts bordering on Lonkin. One Chinese official is reported to have been killed.

THOMAS HAS A PLAN.

The General Proposes to Wipe Out the Terminal

AND FORM A NEW COMPANY.

He Would Give New Preferred Stock for Old Bonds.

COMMON STOCK TO BE ASSESSED.

It Looks Like a Case of Paying Off a Mortgage in Unendorsed Promissory Notes.

New York, May 23.—A meeting of the Richmond Terminal security holders was held today to receive the report of the committee appointed last week. General Thomas, representing the committee, presented a plan of which the following are the principal points:

The Richmond Terminal Company is to be wound up and be succeeded by a new company with $63,000,000 specified stock and $70,000,000 common stock; the present 6 per cent bonds to be given 170 in new preferred stock, the present 5 per cent bonds and preferred stock to be given par in new preferred stock, and common stock to receive par in new common and to subscribe for $8,000,000 collateral trust two year 6 per cent notes at 92 1-2. These notes are to be secured by the same securities that we are now pledged for the floating debt and to be exchanged for 170 per cent in new preferred stock if the plan is successful. It is not proposed to pay off the floating debt with the proceeds of this assessment of about 10 per cent, but to buy the claims now held by the bankers, and, if necessary, to foreclose these claims and take possession for the stockholders of the component parts of the system. If the full amount should not be subscribed by the stockholders, the preferred stock will then have the right to make subscriptions for the balance and to take securities that would have gone to the non-paying common stock and common stock not subscribing will have no rights to the common stock of the new company.

The committee intends to submit to the recent decisions of the courts in regard to the control of the Georgia Central company, and will issue certificates of aliquot parts in holding of those stocks to each stockholder, making him actual owner of his proportionate share. A similar scheme was carried out by the Chicago gas trust.

After the plan was presented at the meeting, the matter was thoroughly discussed by those present. General Thomas and W. P. Clyde both made lengthy statements in explanation of the merits of the plan. Although no formal action was taken, it was generally agreed that the plan presented was the only possible one under which the company could be reorganized.

On a suggestion made by General Thomas the meeting voted that a consultation committee of fifteen should be appointed by the chair to confer with a committee of three, and the meeting then adjourned subject to a call.

IN DEAD EARNEST.

The East Tennessee Is Having a Hard Fight.

Knoxville, Tenn., May 23.—(Special.)—The application for an injunction and prayer for a receiver in the suit against the Terminal company relating to the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia road, came up today before Chancellor Gibson in chancery. The complainants and defendants were each represented by a strong array of legal talent. At 5 o'clock this afternoon the hearing lacked a good deal of being finished. Court adjourned to meet in the morning. The greater part of today was devoted to the reading of affidavits to show that the road is being hurt by being in the Terminal company. A fierce legal battle is being fought. It is evident now that the complainants are in "dead earnest." The hearing will probably be completed tomorrow.

THE TALKING BOYS

Will Meet at Indian Springs, May 30th, and Talk for a Prize.

The success committee of the southern travelers met yesterday afternoon and made several additions to the programme for Monday, May 30th, the opening day. Among them was to accept an elegant gold-headed cane from Messrs. A. L. Delkin & Co., of this city, to be presented to the one who will make the best five-minute talk on the line of goods which the drummers may see fit to place before the committee or judges. The committee, by request, added one car to the special train for the bankers, their employes, and the bookkeepers of the city and their friends.

The following gentlemen will have charge of the sale of tickets and they can be had by calling on them: George W. Brooke, chairman; P. C. Cashman, I. A. Hirshberg, Ed Mesick, J. B. Williams, Fred Law, T. H. Jones, C. H. Wilcox, W. H. H. Phelps and W. A. Ward.

Messrs. Branan, Jones and Atwater were appointed a committee on invitation and programme.

Bankers, wholesale merchants, manufacturers, insurance agents, brokers and commercial travelers in the business centers of the south, are signing the following paper:

"We the undersigned business men do hereby approve a movement to organize the Southern Shippers' and Travelers' Association, and we favor and support a division or council of the organization in our city."

A great number of Atlanta's business men have already signed, and every one who has not signed will have an opportunity to do so in the next few days.

On the opening day the Southern Shippers' and Travelers' Association will be organized. The drummers have arranged to run a special train to Indian Springs and return Monday, May 30th. They have an interesting programme for the morning and afternoon and at night George Collier, manager, will give a grand ball to the commercial guests of the Wigwam, and on Thursday, the last day of the convention, will give a barbecue to the boys.

TRIED TO ESCAPE.

Three Prisoners Nearly Succeed in Escaping from the Station House.

Three downy jailbirds, just recuperating from the effects of a Saturday night drunk, amused themselves Sunday and Sunday night by sawing their way to liberty.

And if they had not been discovered just at the time they were, fifteen minutes later would have found their cell empty and the jailbirds flown.

Three sadder-looking individuals than the festive trio who longed for the liberty they once enjoyed were never seen. Even Frank Deshon and Claude Amsden in their famous impersonation of two downy jailbirds were not up to these.

Cell No. 7 is known to every drunkard in Atlanta, and it has held more inebriates than any other one cell at the police station.

Into it J. W. Hall, W. C. Bridgen and W. C. Gober were thrust Saturday night after they had been run in from their combination drunk. Another fellow already snored in the corner of the cell and the three drunks joined him in his sonorous rumblings with a will.

When they woke up in the morning they knew it was Sunday and they wanted to go to Grant park for a stroll.

No more serious charge than that of drunk was booked against them, but the love of liberty was overmastering and they decided to break jail. One of them had a knife, and out of it a saw was improvised, and with it they began to saw on the bars. It was hard work, but the birds were determined and they took it time about at sawing.

Several bars were sawed in two and two were broken off. The sawing was resumed yesterday morning, and as Call Man Abbott passed through the corridor he noticed the opening the birds had made and immediately took them to another cell.

The discovery was made just in the nick of time.

All the men denied having a hand in the work, but Walker, the fourth prisoner, gave them away and cases were made against the three and Walker was summoned as a witness.

The case was tried before Recorder Calhoun yesterday afternoon.

When the odd looking drunks waltzed in review before his honor the latter could not repress a smile.

The birds smiled too. The audience smiled audibly.

Each of the defendants had a different plea to make. One of them pleaded guilty.

"Judge," said he, "all of us was into it and that feller there—that witness—he sawed too. We're all guilty."

Judge Calhoun agreed with him and gave them each a fine of $15, whereat the birds smiled and were carried back to the prison room.

NOT EVEN HER BABE,

Not Her Widowhood, Not Her Tears, Were Reasons Why Leniency Should Be Shown.

A widow charged with the offense of running a blind tiger on the Sabbath day, while her four very small children cried for their absent mother.

Just such a case as this did Recorder Andy Calhoun have to adjudicate yesterday afternoon.

It was a hard case to settle. The woman's youngest child was hardly twelve months old, and it was left at home in the care of the oldest one, a little little girl of four years.

The plea of the innocent, fatherless little ones, all alone at home, was set up, but it didn't go. The law had to be upheld, and Judge Calhoun fixed the fine according to the offense, without any regard to the circumstances of the woman.

The case was that of Annie Dows, who was arrested Sunday night for running a blind tiger at 550 Marietta street.

The evidence against the woman in the recorder's court showed conclusively that she was guilty.

At the conclusion of the testimony, the lawyer begged for clemency for his client on account of her widowhood and of her small children.

"I am not going to take that into consideration at all," said Judge Calhoun, "nor am I going to impose a nominal fine in this case. It's a bad case, and it is shown to have caused no end of trouble.

"Blind tigers are the most prolific causes of trouble on Sunday than anything I know of, and I am determined to break up every one I can. Let a few negroes congregate in some back alley with a jug of bad whisky, and before anybody knows anything a murder is committed."

He then imposed a fine of $50 upon Mrs. Dows.

She asked not to be sent to the stockade until today. She declares that she has been made a tool of, and says she will bring a man into it.

Judge Calhoun promised her if the guilt of the man could be proven she would be released.

Locked in a cell at the station house, the woman spent last night weeping.

IN THE WINE CUP

A Young Wife Tries to Drown Her Domestic Sorrows.

"Don't let them see my face! Oh, please lock me up quick, and don't let them see my face!"

It was the despairing cry of a young wife who was led screaming into the police station yesterday afternoon with her face covered in her hands, begging that no one be allowed to see her face.

Behind her came another woman much calmer, and several years older, also in the custody of the officers.

Both women were arrested near their homes on Marietta street, drunk. Both have hard-working husbands, but they got together yesterday and got hold of some whisky, and they took too much of it.

One of them was Annie Moore, a very young and very pretty, black-eyed, black-haired brunette, who was married but a short time ago. Recently there has been trouble between herself and husband, and 'tis said she tried to drown her sorrows in drink yesterday. In sympathy with her, a neighbor, Mrs. Josie Howell, partook copiously of the whisky her friend had, and the consequence was that both became drunk, and were arrested.

The grief of the young woman upon her arrival at the police station was terrible.

The two women were released last night upon the necessary collateral being furnished.

ED HUGHES IN TROUBLE.

He Is Arrested for Trying to Obtain Money Under False Pretenses.

Ed Hughes, a well-known young whit man, occupies a cell in the Atlanta jail on account of an ugly transaction which he is charged with having made yesterday.

Hughes is the brother of the young man who was convicted in the city court about two months ago and whose misdeeds almost broke his old, widowed mother's heart.

It is charged that on yesterday morning young Hughes went to the home of the florist at Westview cemetery, a thrifty German, and told the wife of that gentleman that her husband had just sent him down to get $10. She refused to pay the money. Hughes went, saying he would get an order.

He came back and said that the gentleman did not have time to write an order and said for her to let him have the money.

She again refused, and communicated the matter to her husband, who had Hughes arrested and locked in jail.

A CITIZEN OF BUFORD

Mutilates the Forehead of an Atlanta Negro.

Ed Barnes embarked on a negro excursion to Toccoa Falls yesterday morning with his physical man intact.

When he came back last night he had an ugly and a bloody mark just above his eyes.

Barnes was quite festive yesterday, and at all the stations he would get off and paint the quiet villages a vermillion shade.

At Buford he tried a coating of paint of that hue, and a mountain citizen, who had ideas of his own about such conduct as Barnes was guilty of, attempted to suppress the jovial spirit of the negro.

When that excursion train left Barnes had that ugly mark above his eye and a Buford rock was bloody.

The wound Barnes received is a very serious one and the negro was brought to the city and carried to Dr. Westmoreland's office, where his head was dressed and properly bandaged.

Going to Montana for a Prisoner.

Deputy Sheriff B. R. Moss, of Oconee county, South Carolina, passed through Atlanta yesterday on his way to Montana after two fugitives from justice.

George Wilson and Tench Hensinger were members of a gang of burglars in Oconee county. On January 18th last they stole sixty gallons of wine, hauling it away in wagons. They were indicted for this. Many other crimes are laid at their doors. Wilson is in jail in Montana. Hensinger was shot while escaping and Moss thinks that by the time he gets to Montano Hensinger will be in custody.

The Sheriff in the Saddle.

Recently Mrs. M. A. Wood, through her attorney, J. H. Lumpkin, foreclosed a mortgage on the saddle and harness establishment of W. L. Reeder, at No. 9 South Broad street, and the sheriff is now engaged in selling the stock. Deputy Sheriff Green began the auction yesterday and will continue it today. He talks horse, or rather harness as glibly as a native Kentuckian.

The Hotel Changes Hands.

The Ministers Offering Supplications for Relief,

WHILE A CROWD OF ARMED CITIZENS

Cuts the Dkye and Holds the Officers Off at the Point of the Pistol—The Latest Flood News.

Ozark, Ark., May 23.—Reports from Mulberry, White Oak and Altus show that at least twenty thousand acres of the best farming lands in Franklin county are covered with water to the depth of from six inches to six feet. It is now settled that the cotton acreage in this county will be reduced 33 per cent. Hundreds of families are homeless and but for the kindness of neighbors would now be starving. The lowest estimate of loss is $100,000 and the highest $250,000.

They Cut the Dyke.

Ottumwa, Ia., May 23.—At Eddyville fifty families have been driven from their houses and the entire town is in imminent danger. The Mississippi is rapidly backing up into the Des Moines and no amount of fall above can help Ottumwa until the waters in the Mississippi recede. When the old ferry house went out it struck an approach to the new wagon bridge in process of erection and carried away 150 feet of it, thus completely cutting off connections with the two parts of the city. With the swollen condition of the stream it will be impossible to repair the breach for days. In South Ottumwa the river is rapidly cutting into the principal streets. So desperate has become the condition of the people in this city that yesterday every pulpit here sent up prayers for the cessation of the floods.

Fifty armed citizens cut the levee at this point yesterday to save their property from destruction, which they judged would otherwise follow from the continually increasing flood. As the cutting was calculated to injure the property of the water company it was necessary to carry out the work at the point of pistols, and this the citizens did.

The city marshal was appealed to by the company, but he was powerless. The water company's superintendent endeavored to check the men in their intention, but withdrew when a revolver was leveled at his head. The dyke was soon opened in three places, allowing the water to escape.

Cut Off by the Water.

Little Rock, Ark., May 23.—A telegram from Castoria, thirty miles from this city, says that 1,500 men, women and children are waterbound, and asks that a boat be sent to their rescue. The relief committee will forward a carload of provisions this morning by a special train to the nearest point on the Valley railroad, where a steamboat will be in waiting to receive supplies and distribute them to the sufferers.

Governor Boies's Proclamation.

Sioux City, Ia., May 23.—Governor Boies arrived here today in response to the request of the relief committee, and after investigating the flooded district resolved to issue a proclamation inviting the people of Iowa and the country generally to contribute for the relief of the destitute people. The proclamation will be sent out from DesMoines tomorrow and will state that $200,000 is needed for this purpose.

Two more bodies of drowned persons were recovered this morning.

A MOST SERIOUS BREAK.

Another Crevasse in the Levee—Lands Are Overflowed.

New Orleans, May 23.—A crevasse occurred at 8 o'clock last night on the Fearer place, three miles below College Point. This is regarded as the most serious break that has so far occurred in the levees of the lower Mississippi this season.

The water from it will overflow a large part of St. John the Baptist's parish, and greatly damage the Mississippi Valley railroad. The levee is about eight feet high, but seventy-five feet from the bank line and is free from the willows or other growth to lessen the current of inflow.

The crevasse was caused by a crawfish hole. At 10 o'clock last night the break was forty feet wide, and about one hundred men had been collected from neighboring places. Judge Ross, who owns the Hester plantation one mile above, has sent his whole force to the scene.

There is no material on hand, however, and it is hardly possible anything can be done. Aid is being telegraphed for in every direction.

Foreign Grain Trade.

London, May 23.—The Mark Lane Express, in its review of the grain trade during the past week, says: There is a pronounced opinion that there will be a short yield of wheat. Oats are not doing well, owing to the deficient rainfall. Farmers, clearing away their reserves of wheat, owing to heavy supplies, led to unprecedented sales at low figure. Foreign also was largely offered. White wheat dropped 1 shilling and red 6 pence. Oats and maize were dearer. Barley was cheaper. Today wheat was steady and unchanged, foreign wheat advanced 6 pence on American sales. Flour and rye were quiet and cheaper. Barley and maize were 6 pence and oats 3 pence dearer.

Raleigh N. C., May 23.—(Special.)—A special tonight says a cyclone swept through Bertie county wrecking all the houses on Wiley Askew's farm. I leveled the trees on William Pritchard's place. Some of these fell on his house and crushed it, killing one of his children instantly and breaking the other's back.

Fire in a Utah City.

Denver, Col., May 23.—A Brigham, Utah, special to The Republican says: A mons. disastrous fire broke out here at 2 o'clock Sunday morning in the saloon of R. 1. Wilson & Co. Before the flames were gotten under control approximately one hundred thousand dollars' worth of damage was done. The fire was confined entirely to business houses.

A TALLAPOOSA BANK

Allows Its Bottom to Fall Out Rather Peculiarly.

THE VICE PRESIDENT IS ARRESTED.

Sensational Developments Result from the State Bank Inspector's Visit to the Merchants' and Miners' Bank.

Funds all gone, bank in the hands of chief bookkeeper as receiver, vice president arrested, and the charter in a fair way of forfeiture.

Such is the remarkable story that comes from Tallapoosa descriptive of the situation of the Merchants' and Miners' bank of that magic little Georgia city.

Not often is it the case that a bank capitalized at only $50,000 figures in so large a sensation. Surely it is something out of the monotonous run of newspaper stories about bank failures wherein a man simply takes a trip to Canada, drawing out his partner's best card and playing a lone hand across the border line.

Tallapoosa's bank gives a better story than these.

It all came about in this wise.

Some time ago, perhaps a week, Mr. W. J. Speer, who does the work of the Georgia State bank examiner from the treasurer's office, went down to Tallapoosa on his usual round to inspect the Merchants' and Miners' bank. He didn't go with any suspicion, simply because it is the duty of his office to go to all these banks to see if they are conducting business in strict compliance with the bank act of Georgia.

On looking into the workings of the bank at Tallapoosa and investigating the papers debit and credit, the examiner found that things were in a pretty bad fix, there being only about a thousand dollars in cash on the counters.

Against the Law.

Now the banking laws require that a bank must always have on hand 25 per cent of demand deposits, and while the Merchants' and Miners' bank, of Tallapoosa, only had about one thousand dollars on hand their deposits for the last day were about forty thousand dollars.

Thus the law was broken.

Again the banking laws of Georgia require that a bank shall lend to no individual more than 10 per cent of the capital stock, and yet Mr. R. L. Spencer, vice president of the bank, who is manager of the Georgia and Alabama Improvement and Development Company, was endorsed for a loan of about forty-five thousand dollars, a part of it being on collateral of $20,000 bonds in the aforesaid company, according to the examiner's statement.

Mr. J. W. Caseldine, cashier of the bank, it is said, had borrowed for himself about twelve thousand dollars.

It seems that the directors claim that these loans were made without their knowledge or consent, though this question did not come before the inspector and he does not vouch for the statement's truth.

The Vice President Arrested.

The bank inspector returned to Atlanta and made his report to the proper persons. Governor Northen telegraphed at once to the authorities of the bank that they were conducting business in violation of the law, and if things didn't go right at once the charter would have to be forfeited.

This telegram did the work.

The patrons of the bank heard of it and began at once to draw out as far as they could what had been put in the bank. Investigation stirred the directors to a full realization of the situation and Mr. Spencer, the vice president, was arrested by order of the directors.

Mr. Spencer was sick in bed, but was under arrest. He has been the most prominent factor in the booming and up-building of Tallapoosa and everybody knows will not be shown up in a bad light.

Going on for Some Time.

It seems that for some time the patrons of the bank had been looking upon it with doubtful eyes.

The deposits were decreasing with telling effect. During the month of January they amounted to more than $100,000. They only amounted to $45,000 the last day before the bank was closed.

The bank examiner states that there was no money on hand with which to do business, and the chances for getting more money were most doubtful. He says that the bank had sent a man off to Louisville to get money, but he saw no outlook of the effort being successful.

All these things gradually pulled down the bank, and the examiner says at the rate they were going when he was there to inspect it, they couldn't have possibly kept above water a week longer.

In a Receiver's Hands.

Yesterday the bank inspector received notice from Mr. W. P. Guthre, who has been chief bookkeeper for the bank, stating that he has been appointed receiver.

The bank will now go to the courts to wind up and straighten its business.

In the meantime all the banks of this section of the country are looking about them to see that they have not lost and will not lose anything by this strange turn of the tide with the Merchants' and Miners' bank, of Tallapoosa.

Atlanta Banks Involved.

It seems that nearly every bank in Atlanta will have a claim on the Tallapoosa bank.

The books of the bank that has failed show that it had over-checked its account with the Lowry Banking Company to the tune of nearly seven thousand dollars. These checks were never paid by the Lowry Banking Company, however, having been placed in the hands of other banks in Atlanta.

Thus it can be seen that the Lowry Banking Company is not involved to the extent of a nickel, though the other banks may be.

The Fine Was Remitted.

Americus, Ga., May 23.—(Special.)—As a result of the fight between the Americus street railway and the Savannah, Americus and Montgomery railway over the putting in of the crossing, heretofore published in The Constitution, the mayor imposed a fine of $100 upon President Hawkins last week for the alleged violation of a city ordinance against obstructing the crossing with his engines. An appeal from the decision of the mayor was taken to the city council, and upon a hearing of the case this afternoon, the council unanimously reversed the verdict of the mayor and remitted the fine. This action gives general satisfaction, as the imposition of the fine under the circumstances was regarded as wholly unjustifiable.

THE DEMOCRATS OF SCHLEY

Held an Important Mass Meeting in Ellaville.

Ellaville, Ga., May 23.—(Special.)—Agreeable to a call by the democratic executive committee, the democrats of this county met yesterday at the courthouse and elected gubernatorial and congressional delegates. Delegates to the gubernatorial convention: C. R. Hudson, J. F. Woods, J. M. Collum and T. V. Bridges. Delegates to the congressional convention: C. L. Peacock, S. T. Harper, S. J. Reese and J. M. Bray.

A resolution was passed endorsing the administration of Hon. W. J. Northen and the delegates were instructed to vote for him and the present statehouse officers except the attorney general. They go uninstructed as to him. A resolution was passed endorsing "Our Charley" and instructing our delegates to vote for him.

By request of the "unterrified" the Hon. W. M. Hawks, of Americus, was present and made the most common sense democratic speech that was ever delivered at this place. About three hundred were present and they gave him their undivided attention. Hon. J. W. Boozer and Colonel C. B. Hudson also made speeches, and the third party, so far as this county is concerned, is a thing of the past. It died still-born.

AN OLD CITIZEN SHOT.

Captain Sloan Shot Down in His Home by Burglars.

McDonough, Ga., May 23.—(Special.)—Captain A. C. Sloan was shot in his bedroom last night about 10 o'clock by a burglar.

He is about eighty-five years old and lives in an old ante-bellum house near the center of the town. The captain's wife and a niece were sleeping in the same room. They had no lights.

The burglar entered at a window, crossed the room by the captain's bed and secured a valise that he supposed contained the money. The ladies awoke and heard the shooting and thought it was Captain Sloan doing the shooting at the burglar.

Five shots were fired and only one took effect, which entered the captain's left breast under the heart. Dr. Charles McDonald, his family physician, says that the shot is a fatal one and that he cannot live over thirty-six hours.

It is a great shock to the people. The captain is one of our wealthiest citizens. He is the last of McDonough's pioneer citizens. There is no clue as to who committed the crime. Sheriff Glass will leave nothing undone to ferret out the crime. He sent for track hounds last night, but they were untrained and it was of no avail.

Later—A rumor has just come in that Mr. Sloan is dead.

THE DRUNKEN COUNCILMAN RESIGNS.

Henry H. Hicks Agrees to Get Out of the Way.

Augusta, Ga., May 23.—(Special.)—Councilman Henry H. Hicks, from the fifth ward, resigned his office today. Mr. Hicks declares that his resignation is entirely voluntary on his part, and not in response to pressure from those who have criticised his conduct. Mr. Hicks has been on several drunken frolics lately, and has acted badly for a man who occupied the municipal office he held. His behavior was so objectionable to the people of his ward that they got up a petition on Saturday requesting Hicks to resign his office in the council, and in the event he refused to accede to the request the citizen would have petitioned council to impeach him. His resignation will be accepted as soon as council meets again. Everybody is satisfied since Hicks has agreed to surrender his office.

The Council Will Not Accept It.

The city council met this evening and by a vote of 6 to 5 refused to accept Councilman Hicks's resignation. This is considered a strange proceeding, and the only reason, it is believed, why the council declined to accept the resignation, is because Hicks's term will expire in six months, and the council does not want another election held before the regular time.

The New Time Table.

Cedartown, Ga., May 23.—(Special.)—The new time table on the Central is a very convenient arrangement for our people. They can leave Cedartown at 6:35 o'clock in the morning for Rome or Chattanooga, returning at 12:30 or 7:30 o'clock p. m. They now get breakfast before leaving and return for dinner or supper. The Central road has reorganized under its new management, and Mr. H. M. Comer remains the receiver and Mr. George Dole Wadley is the new superintendent, succeeding Mr. V. E. McBee. The new officers are new railroad men, though they are gentlemen of admitted business capacities. Colonel Wadley, father of Superintendent Wadley, was once president of the Central. So far as is known, there will be no changes among the local officers of the Central, an item of news that will be received with genuine gratification by Cedartown people. No town on the Central has a corps of officials more deservedly popular than those at Cedartown, and we are glad to know that they are to be retained.

The Work of the Hail.

Americus, Ga., May 23.—(Special.)—The hailstorm which passed down this section on Monday last was disastrous in its results.

No storm of recent years has wrought such havoc and occasioned such a heavy loss as this one. Near Andersonville, in the upper portion of this county, hailstones fell that would weigh several pounds. The growing crops in that section were totally ruined and several houses demolished, while quite a number of buildings sustained serious damage. At Ellaville in Schley, the same thing occurred. The violence of the storm was equally as great at that place, and several houses are reported to have been destroyed. The farmers in upper Sumter and in the vicinity of Ellaville will have to plant new crops, the damage sustained being irreparable.

Death of Mr. Tom Merritt.

Americus, Ga., May 23.—(Special.)—Mr. Tom Merritt, a prominent citizen of Americus, went out to his plantation to look after some farm work yesterday. He was found in the field this morning in an insensible condition, having been stricken with paralysis. Mr. Merritt was carried to the nearest house, and medical attention was given as promptly as possible, but he never rallied and died this afternoon. His death was a great shock to his family and friends. Mr. Merritt has long been a worthy citizen of Sumter county. He has a number of relatives in Marion county and leaves an intelligent and interesting family to mourn his loss. His daughter, who is attending Wesleyan college in Macon, was telegraphed for tonight. The burial will take place tomorrow.

A "Brother" Exposed.

Valdosta, Ga., May 23.—(Special.)—The Baptist church at Cherry Creek, having received information that A. Eunis is traveling over the country at certain points, imposing himself on the people as an authorized minister from Cherry Creek, impressing the minds of the people that he is a member of Cherry Creek Baptist church in good standing as a minister, wish to inform the people at large, that he is not a member of Cherry Creek church nor of any other church, having been caught up with and charged with the sin of seduction and was excluded from the fellowship of the church.

Was Sure of Heaven and Wanted to Die.

Americus, Ga., May 23.—(Special.)—Al Kenlow, a carpenter who came here a year ago from Fayetteville, N. C., attempted to commit suicide today. He purchased two ounces of laudanum and drank it. When he found the poison was about to do its work, the would-be suicide sought a physician, and made known his desperate condition. For four hours Drs. Winchester and McLendon worked and finally saved the man. Al Kenlow assigned no cause for his rash act, only that he thought he was sure of heaven and wanted to die.

The Third Party in Whitfield.

Dalton, Ga., May 23.—(Special.)—The third party of Whitfield has called a meeting at Dalton, June 4th, to appoint delegates to the Rome congressional convention, and to further perfect its organization. A breezy time may be expected in Whitfield.

TWO ARE DEAD,

As a Result of the Drunken Row at the Waterworks,

AND A THIRD IS BADLY WOUNDED.

A Negro Dance and a Lot of Bad Liquor Cause Two Murders—The Coroner's Inquest.

A negro dance, a few bottles of bad whisky, a crowd of drunken negroes, three ugly pistols, two dead and one dying negro.

Such is the brief summary of Saturday night and Sunday at the camps at the new waterworks reservoir, an ugly story of bloodshed and death.

It was a night and day of bloodshed and yesterday was a day of death and cononer's inquests.

Two negroes shot on Saturday night and Sunday died yesterday; the third negro who was shot still lives, but is in a critical condition.

Three deaths may be the result of the awful work of Saturday night and Sunday morning.

The three men were shot in separate difficulties, but the same flow of bad whisky is no doubt responsible for the wholesale shooting.

The First Shooting.

Almost directly west of the city four miles from the union depot is the new waterworks reservoir. About two hundred men are employed in grading, and just east of the reservoir is a large number of tents where the men live.

The men employed on the works are as a rule desperate fellows and when fired by drink are not slow to get into any sort of trouble.

During the week they are kept busy at work, but when Saturday night comes the wildest disorder prevails in the quarters occupied by the negroes.

They are paid off late on Saturday afternoon, lay up a supply of whisky, get drunk, and "heathendom" could hardly be worse.

Last Saturday afternoon the men were paid off and a number of them came to Atlanta, drinking at almost every bar they passed.

When the bars were closed they returned to the camps with a plentiful supply of redeye to fire their spirits until Monday morning. Among those who came to Atlanta was a notorious desperado named Mack Massey, who was known by the sobriquet of "Black Diamond," which had been given him an account of some desperate experiences. Massey, or "Black Diamond," was drunk and boisterous and was on the search for mischief.

When he and his party reached the reservoir camps a dance was in progress in a cottage on the hill just above the reservoir.

The squeaky notes of a fiddle reached the ears of the drunken negroes and they went to the dance at once.

Massey went in just as the negro frolic was in full blast. He took his stand on one side of the room in which the dance was going on and watched it quietly for a few moments.

While he was standing thus a young negro named Kidd Sanford who was taking a leading part in the dance stepped on his toes. This enraged Massey and he cursed and raved terribly. Sanford passed on, paying little attention, while Messey kept on cursing.

Sanford took his stand just across the room from Massey and "Black Diamond," foaming with rage and with murder in his heart, crossed the room. He walked up to Sanford and deliberately and vigorously stepped on his feet.

"What did you do that for?" asked Sanford turning toward Massey.

"If you don't want your feet stepped on put 'em in your pocket," retorted "Black Diamond."

His rage seemed to increase each instant and before any one knew it he turned, pulled his pistol and began firing on Sanford.

At the first shot Kidd Sanford sank to the floor with a groan.

At the sight of the smoking pistol and the sound of the shooting the negroes fled wildly. Panic ensued, and while the negroes, screaming wildly, bent on their own escape, were running away, "Black Diamond" ran off into the woods.

When quiet was restored the negroes returned to the scene of the late festivity, where the wounded negro lay, and examined him.

Sanford was shot in the abdomen and was suffering terrible agony. The negroes carried him to his tent and called in a physician.

Dr. Freeman examined his wounds and decided that they were fatal.

Another Deadly Gun.

While Sanford was still groaning in his agony, a half dozen negroes on their way home became involved in a drunken quarrel.

The origin of that quarrel is not known and will probably never be known.

Two shots were fired and a negro sank to the ground with a bullet in his body.

Robert Taylor, a teamster, was the negro who was shot. The negro who did the shooting was John Johnson, a laborer on the payroll of the waterworks contractors.

Taylor was shot in two places. One bullet entered the forehead and another passed through his breast.

Johnson escaped in the dark as soon as he had shot his man and cannot be found. Taylor's condition will not admit of his making a statement of how the shooting occurred. Taylor's wounds are not considered fatal, however.

The Third Shooting.

The pistols of the drunken negroes at the waterworks were given a rest from 11 o'clock Saturday night until noon Sunday. Then they were brought into play again with deadly purpose.

All Sunday morning a group of negroes were gathered in a small tent playing poker. Trouble arose as to the fairness of a negro named Joe Kennedy. A negro named Jackson accused him of trying to cheat and he became furious.

His pistol was resorted to and he emphasized his remarks by flourishing his revolver.

The quarrel grew decidedly warm and Kennedy fired at his man.

The ball missed its aim and struck a young negro named Taylor sitting by him.

Kennedy walked coolly away after getting in his work and no attempt was made to stop him.

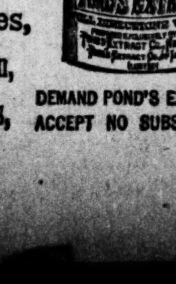

Two of Them Die.

Kidd Sanford died yesterday morning about 8 o'clock and Coroner Davis was at once notified. He went out to the camp, impaneled a jury and held an inquest in the tent where the man had died. The evidence adduced before the cononer's jury pointed to the killing as a clear case of murder and the coroner's jury found a verdict in accordance with the facts.

Young Taylor died at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Coroner Davis was notified but too late for an inquest and he did not go out yesterday. He will hold an inquest over the body of Taylor this morning.

The negro Bob Taylor who was shot Saturday night will recover.

The men who did the shooting are being looked for.

A YOUNG MAN SHOT DOWN

By an Excited Companion While They Were Chasing a Burglar.

Dalton, Ga., May 23.—(Special.)—Walter Wright, a fourteen-year-old boy, was shot through the brain last night by Jim Kittles. Kittles was attending church and his wife raised an alarm by screaming and firing a pistol, claiming that a negro man had attempted to enter her room by raising a side window. Young Wright, going home from church, heard the screams of Mrs. Kittles, learned of the trouble and went after Kittles.

They returned together. Kittles went into the house, took the pistol from his wife and entered a room to put it up. At this time there were other women in the room with Mrs Kittles. Wright, who had been standing outside, pushed a door open to enter, and the women screamed "There he is!" Kittles rushed out and shot at the boy, the ball entering centrally his forehead and passing through the brain. Wright is now thought to be dying. He and Kittles both tell the same story as above. Kittles claims that under the excitement and hysterics of the women he had forgotten that Wright was following him. When the negro appeared at the window Mrs. Kittles ran out of the house and fired three shots at him. The house is an isolated one near a woodland.

THE TRIAL OF GENTRY,

Charged with the Murder of the Peddler Byrnes.

Buchanan, Ga., May 23.—(Special.)—The trial of Asbury Gentry, charged with the murder of Dick Byrnes, was renewed today.

The evidence introduced tended to prove an alibi for Gentry on the day of the murder. Evidence was also introduced to explain the initials on the watch found in Gentry's possession. The trial will continue tomorrow.

Brunswick Is Full of Visitors.

Brunswick, Ga., May 23.—(Special.)—Brunswick is alive with visitors. Cumberland and St. Simons islands opened yesterday with 300 members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and today a special train arrived with 400 freight agents bound for Cumberland, where they hold their annual convention. Tonight a tremendous excursion to St. Simons, under the management of the Brunswick Light Horse Guards, formally opened at St. Simons with a grand ball. D. W. Pratt, formerly of the Egmont hotel, Fernandina, is managing the St. Simons this season.

The Legislative Race in Glynn.

Brunswick, Ga., May 23.—(Special.)—Judge M. L. Mershon, the old time democrat, who has been so vigorously stumping the eleventh district for Turner, was brought out today by his friends to make the legislative race from Glynn. F. E. Twitty, a brilliant young lawyer, was considered a candidate and was requested to run, but declined. Mershon may be opposed by Harvey F. Dunwoody, Glynn's last representative.

Talmage-Bishop.

Athens, Ga., May 23.—(Special.)—Captain C. G. Talmadge, senior partner of the large wholesale firm of Talmadge Bros., was married tonight at 8 o'clock to Miss Mary Bishop, Rev. A. F. Bishop, of Cincinnati, officiating. The marriage was a quiet one, only the relatives and a few friends being present. Miss Bishop is one of Athens' most accomplished daughters, and Captain Talmadge is one of our leading citizens. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. E. P. Bishop, on South Jackson street.

Augusta's Prohibition Election.

THE RACE QUESTION.

How the Situation Is Misunderstood in the North.

The persistent inability of most northern men to comprehend the way southerners of the higher character look at the negro question was afresh illustrated in the Methodist general conference at Omaha yesterday. A representative of the southern Methodist church, the Rev. Dr. Tigert, came with fraternal greetings, and took occasion to speak on the race problem in the south. He asserted that the "southern white man was the most intelligent and sympathetic friend the southern black man ever had or was likely to have," and that "perpetual amity will reign between them if there is no tampering with the fundamental laws of social order." Instead of amens, this brought out groans from the northerners, in which even the bishops are said to have joined. Whatever may be said of this southern view, it is certain that northern men going south are almost invariably converted to it. Thus the editor of a republican paper in Iowa, The Creston Gazette, recently spent some time in South Carolina, and writes as follows:

"This much only have I learned, that in all these race conflicts it is very difficult to get at the true status of affairs, as both sides are generally far from blameless. The negroes are not angels by any means, and the white men are not all saints. It is surprising that they get along as well as they do. Turn the case about and put southern negroes alongside of northern white men, and I am certain that more conflicts would occur than down here. The southern white man and southern negro as a rule seem to understand each other pretty well; the northern white man understands neither the southern negro nor southern white man."

BUSINESS WOMEN.

An Interesting Meeting of the B. W. C. of the Girls' High School.

THE GOOD WORK THEY ARE DOING.

Notes and News of Society—Gossip About Atlanta People and Their Friends.

The Business Woman's Club held a very charming and interesting reception yesterday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Douglass, No. 32 Capitol avenue. The parlors were darkened and adorned with many flowers and delicious refreshments were served during the afternoon.

The club is an interesting one socially, but its chief interest lies in the fact that it is composed of some twenty odd young girls who are studying for the direct purpose of becoming business women as soon as their studies are at an end. They are the students in the business department of the Girls' High school, of which Mrs. Douglass has proven so proficient a teacher, and this club was organized by them for the purpose of mutual pleasure in the interchange of opinions and useful knowledge.

The club opened yesterday afternoon with an address from its president, Miss Belle Simpson, which was followed by several interesting papers read by different members, and the recitation of the "Chariot Race," brilliantly and dramatically rendered by Miss Ruby Steinheimer.

In conclusion the secretary, Miss Edith Buddin, read the minutes of the last meeting and the president proceeded to the election of officers by vote. The new officers elected were as follows:

President—Miss Mamie Scott.
Vice President—Miss Emeline Haynes.
Secretary—Miss Ruby Steinheimer.
Treasurer—Miss Bertha Brady.

Just what the class of girls has been doing during the past term is an interesting thing to know. The business course in the high school includes, in connection with a thorough English education, one of the three following business branches: Typewriting, bookkeeping and stenography.

Out of the class of twenty-one girls there will be seventeen graduates this year. Seventeen young women that means who are perfectly capable of earning good salaries, should inclination or necessity require them to do so. Certainly this business woman's department in the high school is a great and useful one and the club formed from it is sure to grow in strength each year, and I trust it will not be long before it becomes a state affair with pretty rooms and a membership that includes many of the women whose names are prominent in the business life of the state. Before the club adjourned it was agreed that the money left over in the treasury—$18—should be donated to the Grady hospital.

The commencement exercises at the high school will be particularly interesting this year. Miss Sergeant has proven the most progressive and capable of principals, and she is heart and soul in the work, that is flourishing so splendidly under her administration.

Bishop Nelson will deliver the address to the alumnae Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Albert Cox has been elected president of the alumnae, and the selection was a happy one, for no one could preside with more dignity and grace.

***

Miss Elise Robinson, of New York, is the guest of Mrs Joseph Thompson at her country place.

***

Captain and Mrs. Henry Jackson and their party returned from Okefenokee Sunday evening.

***

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Robertson came up from Greenesboro yesterday and are stopping at the Kimball house.

***

The South Side Eucher Club was entertained by Mrs. J. G. Oglesby last night. In place of the usual progressive eucher, a "memory contest" was held. The evening was very pleasantly spent and several dainty prizes were won by those who showed the best retentive powers. During the evening a green tea was served. The tables and refreshments were colored in various shades of green, and the green-shaded lamp gave a very pretty effect to the tables.

***

Mrs. Dugas, nee Miss Peck, of Cocoa, Fla., is the guest of Mrs. Hobbs on Ponce de Leon avenue. Mrs. Dugas will remain for quite a while, a fact that will bring much pleasure to her many friends.

***

Hon. S. H. Hardeman and wife, of Washington, are registered at the Kimball.

***

The engagement of Miss Neel Howard Waring, of Cement, to Mr. Crump, of Memphis, has been announced. The marriage will take place at the bride's home on July 27th, at noon. Miss Waring is one of north Georgia's most charming women and has many friends and admirers through the state.

***

Miss Julia Wilkins will spend some time in Europe this summer with Miss Tyng and Mrs. Henry Epping, of Columbus.

Matthews, T. D. Meador and wife, Miss Mamie Goldsmith, C. B. Motes and wife, Dr. J. A. Thornton, Mr. Will Hughes and Miss Willie Tinsley, of Macon. The grounds have been greatly improved and gravel walks made to all the springs. A new tennis court and bowling alley have been added, also an elegant new bathhouse.

Miss Hannah Buckner, a charming young lady of Shelbyville, Tenn., is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Knott, on Calhoun street.

IT SOUNDS FUNNY.

Third Party Men Calculating on Electing a Second District Congressman.

It will be amusing news at least to the candidates for congress in the second district to learn that the third-party leaders, here in Atlanta, at headquarters, have "fixed things," to put in a third-party candidate as a dark horse to beat them.

Colonel A. G. Daniel, the enthusiastic, and Editor Irwin, the hopeful, were talking over the situation yesterday.

"Oh, it isn't too late yet, by any means, to beat those men to the tank," was the first thought advanced by Colonel Daniel.

"You went down there to groom a third-party candidate, didn't you, colonel?" he was asked.

"I went down there to ask Stevens if he would run on a third-party platform. He said 'No.,' and then I told him to make up his mind to face and be beaten by a third-party leader."

"Do you really and seriously think that, colonel?"

"I know it."

"Who will the candidate from the third-party ranks be?"

"Don't know. That's a small matter. We have an inexhaustible supply of candidates. First let the people act, and they are acting too, every day, and don't you forget it."

It was funny to see the serious countenance that the colonel wore.

"Let me put another bug in your ear," the colonel went on to say, winking the other eye as he spoke.

"What?"

"You may talk about Watson losing strength in the tenth district—why, he will carry the city of Augusta!"

"Smoke and blue blazes!"

"Yes, sirree, that's what."

And, really, the colonel seemed to be talking seriously. Real seriously.

THE CAPITAL CITY BANK.

It Will Not Be Removed from Its Present Location.

A good deal of talk has been started as to where the Capital City bank would go.

The advertisement of the Capital City corner for rent by its owner caused the talk. The property was advertised to be ready for rent in July.

This naturally made people wonder what would become of the bank—where it would be opened if it should be removed from its present place of business.

Mr. Jacob Haas, cashier of the bank, was seen yesterday and asked where the bank would be taken.

"In reply to your inquiry," said he, "and I am glad of the opportunity to make it public, I have only this to say, that we have a lease on the building and will stay right here."

"I want to say further," continued Mr. Haas, "that Mr. Jones, the owner of the property, knew this when he placed the advertisement in the public prints. Here is the clause of our lease that gives us the right to claim the property," and Mr. Haas went into the great safe and brought out the document. It was a lease of five years that will expire next July, but here is the clause to which Mr. Haas referred:

"And at the expiration of five years the party of second part has a right to make a new lease for a similar number of years at whatever the property is reasonably worth in the market for the rent."

As to the Clearing House.

There has been some talk that the Atlanta Clearing House Association would change tactics, and instead of passing around from bank to bank, would have the work done at one particular bank permanently.

Those in authority, however, declare that no change will be made soon and that the system of giving the work to each bank in two weeks' rotation will continue to go on as before.

It is now the Southern Trust and Banking Company's turn, and they will do the work for two weeks.

THE GRADY CADETS.

This Company of Volunteers Will Take Steps to Reorganize.

There was a fair attendance and worlds of enthusiasm last night at the meeting of the Grady Cadets, called for the purpose of reorganizing.

The resignations of Mr. Thomas Cobb Jackson, Mr. Jack Cohen and Mr. Frank Orme as captain and lieutenants respectively were taken up for consideration and acted upon.

The company accepted the resignations of Messrs. Jackson and Cohen, but tabled the resignation of Mr. Orme until a committee can call on him and urge him if possible to remain first lieutenant of the company.

Colonel Calhoun and Adjutant Park Woodward, of the Fourth regiment, were there and made eloquent and enthusiastic speeches, urging every member to stand loyally by his company's colors.

A sensational feature of the meeting was that nearly half the members were turned out of the company on account of non-attendance and for not paying their dues promptly.

A committee was appointed to muster more members and to pledge the old members to give better attention to the welfare of the company in the future than they have given in the past.

Tomorrow night they meet again for reorganization. It is not known who is likely to be made captain or who will be put in the place of the two lieutenants who have resigned.

THE MERRY GROCERS.

They Will Go to Lithia Springs Carrying Three Thousand Strong.

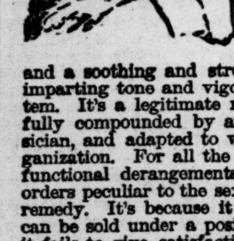

The jolly grocers—the men who above all others know what is good to eat at a picnic—have decided to go on their annual picnic tomorrow.

They will go in three cars, and will carry with them, perhaps, about three thousand people.

All Atlanta knows what these picnics mean each year. They are simply immense.

The grocers this year will go to Lithia Springs on the Georgia Pacific railroad. This is a most desirable place for picnics and the Atlanta grocers are to be congratulated upon the selection they have made.

Everybody expects a good time at the grocers' picnic, and everybody who has ever attended them declares their expectations will be fully realized.

A feeble woman is restored to health and strength, by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. If you're overworked, "run-down," or debilitated, you need it. It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, and a soothing and strengthening nervine, imparting tone and vigor to the whole system. It's a legitimate medicine, too—carefully compounded by an experienced physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. For all the chronic weaknesses, functional derangements, and painful disorders peculiar to the sex, it is an unfailing remedy. It's because it is unfailing that it can be sold under a positive guarantee. If it fails to give satisfaction, in any case for which it's recommended, the money paid for it will be promptly returned.

You pay only for value received.

It is a legitimate medicine—not a beverage. Contains no alcohol to inebriate; no syrup or sugar to sour or ferment in the stomach and cause distress. As peculiar in its marvelous, remedial results as in its composition.

Coughs, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, etc., quickly relieved by BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES. They surpass all other preparations in removing hoarseness and as a cough remedy are pre-eminently the best.

O'NEAL IS FREE.

He Is Allowed to Give Bond in the Sum of $1,000,

AND STEPS OUT OF THE COUNTY JAIL.

Mrs. O'Neal Will Be Carried to Milledgeville Today—O'Neal's Solicitude for His Wife Greater Than for Himself.

Thess O'Neal is out of jail.

And he may not enter it again, at least for the killing of Joe England.

Yesterday morning Messrs. Glenn & Slaton, the attorneys who represent O'Neal, made application before Judge Richard Clark for the privilege of bailing their client. The application was accompanied by a statement from Solicitor Hill to the effect that he had carefully investigated the circumstances of the killing, and thought it not unsafe to release the prisoner from custody on the execution of a $1,000 bond.

After giving the matter a brief consideration, the judge decided to grant the application, and thereupon an order was issued, directed to the sheriff for the prisoner's release, provided the bond should be forthcoming. There was no difficulty in finding friends to go his security, as several prominent citizens stood ready to affix their signatures to the paper. The bond as executed was signed by Mr. W. M. Scott, the real estate man, Joshua O'Neal, the prisoner's father, and then by Thess O'Neal, the prisoner himself.

When the bond had been drawn up and the signatures of the first two gentlemen had been affixed, the document was immediately carried to the jail. Only a few strokes of the pen stood between O'Neal and his freedom, and when the paper was given him to sign, he scrawled out his name with a hasty impulse that plainly told of his impatience for liberty.

In a few minutes he was walking along the streets a free man. He first went to the office of Ordinary Calhoun with whom he consulted in regard to his wife; then out to see his children who were at the home of their grandfather, and finally to the residence of Mrs. Holstein, on Decatur street, where he saw the unfortunate, but idolized woman, who was the innocent cause of his trouble.

It is the opinion of nearly every one who has read the details of the tragedy that the killing was justifiable.

And O'Neal may be out of jail for good.

Will Be Taken to Milledgeville.

Mrs. O'Neal will be carried to Milledgeville today.

She has not improved in her condition a particle since the finding of the jury, but on the contrary, has grown decidedly worse.

Every arrangement has been made for her comfort while in the asylum, and it is hoped that under the treatment she will there receive, that she will shortly be restored.

OLD OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

The Atlanta Consolidated Shows Its Confidence in the Present Management.

The stockholders of the Atlanta Consolidated Street Railway Company have every confidence in the present management of that company's affairs, and they expressed that confidence yesterday in the re-election of the company's officers.

Of the 20,000 shares of stock, 17,000 were voted.

The board of directors for the ensuing year consists of Messrs. Joel Hurt, H. E. W. Palmer, A. E. Thornton, Robert J. Lowry and W. H. Patterson, of Atlanta; John H. Watson, of New York; Oliver Ames, Alfred A. Glasier, J. F. A. Clark, Eugene Griffin, G. W. Mansfield, Winthrop Coffin, of Boston, and Frederick Ayer, of Lowell, Mass.

The following were the officers elected: President, Mr. Joel Hurt; vice president, Mr. Eugene Griffin; treasurer, Alfred A. Glasier; assistant treasurer, H. I. Bettis.

The executive committee will consist of the Atlanta directors.

SHOT AT A BURGLAR.

But the Ball Brought Down a Few Spots of Blood Only.

Charles Bennett, the well-known locomotive engineer on the East Tennessee railroad, winged a burglar Sunday night.

But the wounded burglar made good his escape.

Twice last week attempts were made to enter Mr. Bennett's home on Johnson street and on both occasions he was away from home. Sunday night, however, Mr. Bennett was at home when the burglar made his third call. In trying to raise a window the burglar made enough noise to attract Mr. Bennett's attention, and armed with a pistol he began an investigation. Mr. Bennett could easily see some one working at the window and fired from the room. The ball crashed through the window and shutter, but when the engineer went out the yard was deserted. Yesterday, however, spots of blood marked the course some one had taken from the window to the fence.

A Warning to the Wall Street Syndicate.

We observe a tendency on the part of a few of our northern exchanges to make some concessions to the demands of the people in the agricultural regions for financial relief. This tendency is a very timely symptom indeed, but the concessions, in order to avail anything, will have to go much further than many of our contemporaries dream of.

It is all very well for the newspapers in touch with Wall street to declare that there is no need for any further additions to the volume of currency, and to prove it by statistics from the treasury department, and by reference to the bank holdings. It is all very well for them to point to these figures and to console their readers and themselves with the idea that, because the banks are glutted with money, the people in all parts of the country are in a prosperous condition.

But it is not so. The showing that is made is fatal to the argument that is based on it. When the money of the country gathers in the banks that stand contiguous to the whirl of speculation in Wall street it cannot be said to be in circulation. The depression which is making itself felt in the agricultural regions is in some respects more deplorable than a mere insufficiency of money would be. The lack of money hurts business worse than it hurts the farmers, and the influence that it has on the wages of workingmen and in promoting the waste of available labor that cannot be utilized, is more serious, all things considered, than the embarrassments of the farmers.

The farmers are suffering from evils that go deeper than the mere lack of currency, although that is bad enough. They are suffering from the results of the demonetization of silver, which are more serious and disastrous to their interests than an insufficient volume of money. The result of that demonetization was set to depreciate the value of silver, but to increase the value of gold. The value of the gold dollar has increased 15 cents during the past twelve months, when compared with silver, wheat, cotton, corn and tobacco. An ounce of silver will today buy as much of the agricultural products of the country as it would in 1873. Eighty-five cents' worth of gold will buy more than $1 in gold would buy in 1873.

In other words—to illustrate the matter clearly—a $50 debt that could have been paid with a bale of cotton will now draw from the planter a bale and three-quarters, to say nothing of the increased interest. Two years ago a bale of cotton was accepted as gilt-edged collateral for $50, but is now accepted for not more than $25. Silver, cotton and wheat are on a level with each other. Following the example of Wall street, we say that they have decreased in value, whereas it is well known that these commodities have fluctuated but slightly. Gold has gone up—has increased in value—as compared with other things, and this increase has affected all industries and all wages. Those who think they are paying 8 and 10 per cent interest are really paying 15 and 20 per cent.

This is merely a brief and hasty glimpse of the situation. Editors who imagine that ignorance is at the bottom of the farmers' movement for financial relief, or that the movement is confined to the agricultural regions have a very narrow view of the situation. However crudely the demands of the farmers may be framed, or however inadequate their proposed remedies may appear to be, the evils of which they complain are most serious, and their protests will undoubtedly take a serious shape unless some remedy is discovered.

The movement is not confined to the farmers by any means. It is seething and boiling among the workingmen in the cities—the wage-gainers who are the victims of the goldolators and their financial system. Communistic literature is circulating among these people by the ton, and it is written in a style to attract attention. It is potent because the grievances of the people are real. Communism and nationalism offer various remedies calculated to attract those who desire to rid themselves of conditions which they know to be unnatural and unnecessary. When the farmers and the wage-earners of the cities pool their issues, as they will sooner or later, what is to be the outcome? Will it not be too late, when the movement is once under headway, for the goldolators and their friends to step to the front with sugar-coated remedies and compromises?

The farmers have always been noted as the most conservative class of our population, but they do not propose to rest quiet under the present condition of affairs. It is a great strain on their conservatism, when they are told that there is more than enough money in circulation, and that they are the advocates of inflation; when they see Wall street practically controlling a democratic house, and threatening to break up the democratic party unless a candidate in sympathy with the views of the goldolators shall be nominated.

Such a situation is calculated to drive people to extremes, and there is no telling what shape the protest against the goldolators and the money power will take. They feel seriously the heavy hand of oppression, and they propose to escape from it. In Georgia, even now, there are men proposing to make promissory notes legal tender, and one citizen who has some following declares that he is in favor of making it a penal offense to charge or collect interest. These wild suggestions mean nothing now, but they show the drift of things. They are symptoms; they mark a tendency.

The people who are suffering from the effects of our disordered and unnatural financial system form an overwhelming majority of the voting population of this country, and it will be a dark day for the money power when this powerful protesting element is driven to placing itself in the hands of demagogues who stand ready to lead it into the commission of any excess. A republic is a very dangerous affair when a few capitalists and speculators undertake to buy legislation and to nominate candidates in order that they may be permitted to rob the people with impunity. The great financial syndicate that undertakes this sort of thing is bound to come to grief, and it will be a very fortunate thing if other and more substantial interests are not injured in the vigorous protest which the honest voters of the country will be compelled to make.

What the Census Shows.

Mr. Edward Bellamy, in his organ, The New Nation, picks out some very remarkable census facts from the summary given in Mr. S. S. King's recent book, "Bondholders and Breadwinners."

According to a census bulletin issued last summer the increase of assessed property during the last decade made the total value over $24,000,000,000. The orthodox and well-to-do citizens fell to figuring. They agreed that the actual value was two-and-a-half times the assessed value. So they made the assessed value of our property over $62,000,000,000, and dividing it by over 62,000,000 people the result gave each person $1,000.

Mr. Bellamy remarks that several parties are still anxiously awaiting their share. He sees no general prosperity in the census figures, and says:

Suppose a hundred families, of four persons each, live upon and own a hundred farms, and these farms show a gratifying increase in value during the past decade, so that each family's possessions should be worth $4,000. Here each person would possess an average actual wealth of $1,000, and the community would be a happy, prosperous and wealthy one.

But suppose that ninety-seven of these families are living on mortgaged farms, their debts increasing faster than their farm values, the community as a whole still showing a very gratifying increase in wealth, but all that increase being in the hands of the three men who operate the bank, the railroad and the factory, could it then be said that the community was a happy, prosperous or wealth one? Hardly. The three families would be prosperous—eminently so—while the ninety-seven would be drifting to inevitable ruin, notwithstanding the same total wealth might exist in the community as in the first case.

As well might the ninety-seven shout over the accumulated wealth of the other three—their banker, railroader and manufacturer—as that ninety-seven hundredths of American citizens should shout over the increase of wealth of the other three hundredths—their bankers, railroaders and manufacturers.

Mr. King's book divides the country into districts, the produce district composed of Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and North Carolina, and the wealth district composed of the New England states, with New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, the section of banking, money-lending, manufacturing and railway owning interests.

The fact is pointed out that, with nearly an equal population and three times the territory, the produce district in the decade ending with 1890 has increased its wealth only about half a billion dollars, while the wealth district has increased its share over three billion dollars.

The produce district gained over 22 per cent in population and 20 per cent in wealth, making an actual decrease of per capita wealth, while the wealth district increased 20 per cent in population and 40 per cent in wealth. Mr. Bellamy says:

Mr. King next compares the growth in wealth of the "produce district" with the single state of Massachusetts from 1880-1889. The nine states of the "produce district" have fifty-eight times the territory of Massachusetts, and in 1880, had over seven times the population of Massachusetts, with an assessed valuation one and three-fourths greater. And yet this little state with one-fifty-eighth the territory, one-seventh the laboring population, and scarcely more than one-half the assessed wealth, gained between 1880 and 1890 $569,-377,824, while the "produce district" gained just $10,000,000 less.

And Pennsylvania alone beat the produce district, with Florida, Kentucky and Kansas added. Add to these twelve states Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia, and New York alone gained more wealth in the past decade than all of them.

These figures show that wealth is concentrated in the hands of a few in a small corner of the republic. They show, too, that the government has fostered the interests of the banker, the railroad owner and the manufacturer to the neglect of the masses.

What next? Simply this—the wealth district will attempt to dictate the tickets and platforms of both the republican and democratic parties so that the plutocrats can go to sleep over the money question, feeling secure that no financial reform or relief will be possible during the next four years!

Venezuela's Black General.

General Crespo, the commander of the revolutionists in Brazil, is described by a contemporary as a negro of remarkable ability, with a genius for war and statesmanship.

The black general has thus far succeeded in defeating several bodies of government troops, and in the country districts he appears to have a large following. He is laboring under the disadvantage of being unable to equip his men, while President Palacios has no difficulty in securing both arms and money.

If The New York Herald's advices are reliable, the president is trying to delay the regular election in order to defeat the will of the people and keep himself or his favorites in power. He has imprisoned many prominent citizens, including the judges of the supreme court, and letters leaving Caracas are under a strict censorship. The writers of letters containing anything unfavorable to the government are promptly sent to prison.

General Crespo is waging his warfare furiously, and the other side is fully as blood-thirsty. Only the other day, when a government general was killed, a revolutionary officer rode into a captured town with the dead man's head on his saber. The president's threat of executing Crespo's son has provoked the counter-threat of burning Palacios at the stake.

So far as savagery is concerned, the two factions seem to be about equally matched. The laws of civilized warfare are utterly disregarded, and if the struggle is protracted the material interests of the country will suffer great damage.

In the event of the triumph of the revolutionists, will Venezuela have a black president or dictator? It is hardly probable. A second revolution would perhaps dispose of Crespo in short order. The inhabitants of Spanish descent would not very long submit to the rule of a negro, and they are strong enough to control affairs when they pull together.

The attempt to make Mr. Blaine write another letter in behalf of the Harrison family has fallen flat.

The second-term idea is worrying the republicans no little. Yet it is a very small matter. The democrats smile gleefully over the proposition to nominate a candidate three times.

In taking down our overcoats and putting back our grates, let us try not to forget that we live in the sweet sunny south, and that the month is merry May.

The Memphis Commercial says "it is a pity The Constitution hasn't got a tail to keep off the flies.' When did the Memphis gnat swell out to the proportions of a fly?

Some of our Georgia exchanges are discussing the free-coinage plank in the state platform, and trying to utilize it as a Cleveland poultice. It is an awful question.

Editor Cockerill says "the country keeps on prospering, despite the McKinley bill." To what country does Editor Cockerill allude? He should go out into the country and look around.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

It was all a mistake about The New York Sun publishing Rider Haggard's "Nada, the Lily." The Sun declined it because it was worthless, and so pronounced it in a paragraph when it was printed in book form.

"Queer notions of justice exist in Argentine Republic," said Leroy Boniface, of San Francisco, at the Southern, the other day. "For example, while in Buenos Ayres a few months ago I saw six poor devils publicly shot on the execution ground, which is a large plaza set apart for the purpose. I inquired of a high government official the cause of their execution, and was informed that they were suspected of being a portion of a party who had recently attempted to wreck a railroad train. When I suggested to him the probability of having thus so summarily dealt with innocent men, he shrugged his shoulders and said: 'Oh, well, it serves the purpose of setting a good example, anyhow. And, then, if they were innocent their families and friends will never stop until they find the guilty parties and turn them over to us. So there, you see, we are pretty apt to get the real miscreants before the thing is dropped.'"

The New York Advertiser says that Fitzhugh Lee is related to "Light Horse" Harry Lee, "the hero of the confederate cavalry." As "Light Horse" Harry was in the revolutionary war he must have been something over a century old when he joined the confederate cavalry.

Says The Billville Banner: "We have been informed by the secretary of the Georgia Weekly Press Association that our trip with the editors to the west will only cost us $25. This is quite cheering, for it only means one year's work, outside of rations."

Another editor gone! Turner, of The Albany News and Advertiser, made a political speech the other day in favor of his candidate for congress, and ten minutes afterwards they were running him for the legislature. The candidates will soon decide that editors are dangerous rivals.

A queer case of spontaneous combustion occurred in the editorial room of The Valdosta Times a few days since. The exchanges, after careful perusal, had fluttered one by one, into the waste basket, when suddenly the table was wrapped in flames. When the editor had recovered from the shock, and from the exertion of tossing the basket with its burning contents into the street below, he sat down to wonder how it happened. There had not been a spark of fire in the office, except what smouldered at the end of a Havana. It was a clear case of spontaneous combustion. The relations between some of the brethren have become a little strained. The editor had dropped the exchanges of the second district into the basket together and the result was a conflagration.

GEORGIA POLITICAL NOTES.

The Americus Times-Recorder says that Schley county's stalwart farmers will remain loyal to the democratic party. This fact was established beyond the shadow of a doubt by the enthusiastic democratic mass meeting held at Ellaville Saturday, for the purpose of electing delegates to the gubernatorial and district conventions. At one time it looked as though there would be serious disaffection in the democratic ranks in Schley, in consequence of the third party movement. Many looked with favor on most of the principles enunciated in the St. Louis platform, and for awhile they wavered. They have again, however, been taught to realize the force of the saying "all is not gold that glitters," and most of the whilom third partyites have turned again to their first love.

A political discussion came near precipitating a big row in Americus on Saturday last. A group of farmers were discussing the political virtues and sins of Wright Brady, who is a candidate for the legislature. A few extolled him while others denounced him. Finally one of the men exclaimed hotly, "Brady's a traitor to his county." Then there was a rumpus that caused all the people in the vicinity of the speaker to think that there was going to be a general free fight. The gentleman to whom the remark was addressed replied hotly, the bystanders took up the quarrel and for a while the air seemed charged with the most dangerous kind of electricity. Pacificators and policemen appeared simultaneously. Their presence had an immediate and very salutary effect. The would-be combatants cooled down and bloodshed was averted.

Says The Americus Times-Recorder: "The Savannah Press wants Colonel George A. Mercer to be chairman of the Georgia delegation in the national democratic convention. Colonel Mercer is a gentleman of ability, but The Times-Recorder thinks Colonel Louis F. Garrard is the man for the place. Apart from the prominence of his political record as speaker of the house in the Georgia legislature, his work in the late state convention deserves at least the recognition that his selection to the chairmanship of the Georgia delegation would carry with it."

Two names have been mentioned for representative from Douglas county—those of Colonel Hiram McLarty and Mr. Gregory Griggs. Some effort will be made to induce them to enter the race.

And now they are talking about John Temple Graves as a congressional possibility in the bloody seventh.

The Spring Place Jimplecute, discussing the race for attorney general, says:

"The Hon. Bill Glenn, the author and finisher of the famous Glenn railroad bill that brings a half million dollars annually into the treasury of Georgia, is presenting his claims for the office of attorney general to the people from all over the state and we are here to tell you that he is in it and everybody is for him. The people of Georgia are justly proud of Bill Glenn, and especially so are the voters of north Georgia, where he was born, bred and reared and has proven himself to be a man with a broad expanse of principle put forth by a vast amount of brain power and matchless oratory."

The friends of Candidate Terrell, Mr. Glenn's competitor for the attorney generalship, are also loud in his praise and equally sanguine of success. It is a fight to the finish between both gentlemen, which will grow more interesting later on.

ETCHED AND SKETCHED.

While a number of belated converts, in the expectancy of presidential favor, if Mr. Cleveland should be elected, are claiming credit for having saved the state for him, it is well to look at the facts.

It was The Atlanta Evening Herald which first called into existence and nurtured the Cleveland Club of Atlanta. Later the movement was endorsed by other papers. In recognition of his zeal, and as a tribute to his record as the most active supporter of Mr. Cleveland in Georgia, Mr. B. M. Blackburn, editor-in-chief of The Herald, was made chairman of the state central committee. Emboldened by Mr. Blackburn's zeal, others came forward as workers.

The fact remains, however, that to Mr. Blackburn belongs the credit of reviving Clevelandism in Georgia. His modesty kept him in the background, but his work was all the more effective therefore. This is recognized by Cleveland men who are familiar with the facts, and is fully admitted by the supporters of Mr. Hill.

* * *

It will be interesting to the numerous university men here to know that the banquet that was to have been given by the University Club of Atlanta has been postponed until the next Wednesday, and will in consequence not be enjoyed tomorrow night, as was expected. This was decided by the executive committee of the club and the reason is because they thought it best to get every university man in Atlanta on the list of members of the club before the first banquet should be given. It is the intention of the executive committee to have a rousing good time the first night, and they want to get all the old college men together that night to give the club a great and splendid "send off."

* * *

"Magic Machen"—that's what everybody calls him now—was in Atlanta on his way to Macon, and stayed around the hotel corridors long enough to tell many a good yarn yesterday. Machen is just back from New York, where he has been for more than a week. He says Atlanta's young newspaper men are climbing right to the top in the great metropolis.

* * *

Rev. E. C. Campbell, formerly pastor of the First Baptist church in Athens, but who now lives in Texas, was in Atlanta last night. He declares that while his associations out in the Lone Star State are pleasant enough, there is no land that is half so fair and happy as old Georgia. Dr. Campbell is one of the most prominent of southern Baptist ministers, and is known all over Georgia.

CITY NOTES.

A house on Calhoun street that was resting on "jacks" while being moved, turned over yesterday morning.

It fell against a dwelling house next to it and the two were crushed to the ground together. Three men at work on the building were hurt in the accident. A great cloud of smoke rose from the collapsed buildings, and some one thinking that a fire had started rang the fire alarm.

The houses were the property of Mr. John Knott.

The Conreid Opera Company will open its summer engagement at the Edgewood Avenue theater on June 6th. The engagement, Manager Kleibacker writes, will be for an indefinite period, and that his cast is strong and attractive. Among the cast are some of New York's most popular and public comic opera favorites. Mr. and Mrs. Kleibacker, who have been sojourning in New York for the past month, will return to Atlanta with the company.

George Summers, a negro laborer on the city quarries, was hit by a flying stone yesterday and severely hurt. The negro's skull was crushed in by the force of the blow.

Harry Williamson, a small white boy, whose home is on Pratt street, was severely bitten on his hands and arms by a dog yesterday. Dr. Brown was called in and rendered the necessary surgical attention.

Dr. H. H. Cary, of the Georgia fish commission, left for New York yesterday evening. Dr. Cary goes to represent the fish commission of this state in the convention of the American Fisheries Society, to be held in that city on the 25th and 26th instants.

A fire out beyond the city limits yesterday morning wiped out the little home and all the household possessions of Mr. Lem Hendrick, a well known young man who works for the Winships. Mr. Hendrick's mother, who lives with him, is a helpless invalid. The little home was totally destroyed.

The Junior nine of the Technological school played the Boulevard boys yesterday afternoon. The "Tecks" won the game.

Several of the grammar school classes will sing in the Girls' High school hall today at 11 o'clock. The friends of the school and classes are cordially requested to be present.

In the case of Swift et al. vs. Tatner, brought up from the Eastern judicial circuit, Judge Pratt Adams, of Savannah, made one of the ablest arguments heard in the supreme court in a long while. This very able argument adds new laurels to the fame of Judge Adams as a lawyer.

A regular meeting of the Young People's Association of the First Presbyterian church will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. The leader will be Professor West, of the Technological school. An interesting programme has been prepared for the evening.

Rev. W. H. Robert on Saturday last conducted a Bible class at the barracks and preached morning and afternoon at Ivy street mission. Yesterday afternoon he delivered a discourse to the young people at the Third Baptist church.

The coroner held an inquest over Bud Watts the negro man who dropped dead Sunday night on Piedmont avenue. A verdict of death caused by rheumatism of the heart was reached.

There was a small blaze in the Herald building on Broad street yesterday afternoon, but very little damage was done. The fire was caused by a defective flue and the department soon extinguished it.

The recorder's court did a rushing business yesterday, but the cases tried were mostly drunks and cases of disorderly conduct. The fines imposed by the recorder amounted to $555, about twice as much as usual on Mondays. About half of this amount was paid, the rest will be worked out in the stockade.

Coroner Davis held an inquest over the body of Ben Watts yesterday morning at Lee's undertaking establishment. Watts was an aged negro, and he died quite suddenly at the home of a friend at 75 Piedmont avenue. The verdict of the jury was that the old man had come to his death from rheumatism of the heart.

IN THE CITY HALL.

The Officials Are Kept Quite Busy Just Now.

THE TAX BOOKS BEING FOOTED UP.

The Investigating Committee Will Soon Meet and Secure Expert Accountants for the Work.

That investigation of the city hall books has not begun yet.

But when the experts complete making their figures they will have an all summer job of it.

The resolution providing for the investigation declares that a special committee, the personnel of which the mayor shall name, must have the supervision of the work, and that that special committee shall designate an expert accountant to make the investigation.

Mayor Hemphill has approved the resolution and has appointed the special committee, with Mr. Woodward, the author of the resolution, as chairman. Mr. Woodward's colaborers, as the mayor names them are: Mr. Boyd, Mr. Northen, Mr. Hill and Mr. Meador. The committee has been in existence since Thursday last, but so far has done nothing. However, a meeting will be held either tomorrow or next day, when an actual campaign of figuring will be marked out and instituted. Before the committee there will be a large lot of applications for the work, and of course, every applicant will claim a superiority over the competitors.

"I'm anxious," said one of the city hall officials yesterday "to see the work begun. But if it goes on properly many more people will be decidedly more anxious to see it completed."

"Why so?"

"Because it will be an all summer job, and maybe one that will eat up the fall months too. Then the idea that $500 will pay for the work contemplated is absurd. It won't begin to pay the bill if the work is properly carried out. That work will come nearer costing $5,000 than $500. See if it don't.

"Then again," said the gentleman, "one man won't begin to do the work unless he is given a lifetime. It will come nearer requiring the service of three or four, maybe five of the best, finest and most expert accountants in Atlanta to go over those books as the work should be done. And then what'll it amount to?"

"What? Can you tell?"

"Yes I can tell. It'll amount to nothing, except the foolish expenditure of money. The books in the city hall are well kept, and no supervision that could be made will find any discrepancy in them. It is impossible, by the system of checking now used in Atlanta to make an error, and all the experts in the country will show that what I say is true."

To Visit the Reservoir.

The mayor and the general council are going out to the reservoir to inspect the work.

And they are going in a lump too.

No one in the city has watched the work at the reservoir closer or more carefully than Mayor Hemphill. While watching the work too, he has been keeping an eye open to see what members of the council have been viewing the work of Contractor Mosley. His observations have satisfied him that many members of the general council would be given an eye-opener by glancing at the work. So yesterday the mayor sent an official invitation to the members of the general council to visit the reservoir in a body, and every member gave an official acceptance.

The visit will be made this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

And in carriages the twelve councilmen, six aldermen and mayor will drive out over Hemphill avenue today.

That drive too will be the opening, though not the formal opening of the finest, prettiest drive in the south.

The Electric Lights.

The electric light committee, Mr. Turner, Mr. Stephens and Mr. Murphy, will meet this afternoon.

There are many applications for new lights all over the city, and the chairman of the committee, Dr. Turner, will find his apron full of papers when he meets his conferees this afternoon. Then too there may be a request or two for additional and new street car franchises.

The Tax Books.

The tax assessors, Mr. Meador, Mr. Malone and Mr. Keith are as busy as bees.

No jokes are told in that office just now.

The three gentlemen are busy earning their living by figuring up the actual value of Atlanta's real estate. That increase of over a million and a half has made the trio happy, and each one is working hard to see how near the two million mark he can come.

WITH DESHON LAST NIGHT.

It's an ill wind that fils no sail, and this cold weather that is chilling the young cotton and threatening the fruit crop is proving a golden harvest to comic opera.

When the curtain rose at the opera house last night the Deshon Opera Company looked upon an audience that completely filled the theater, an audience which was a compliment to even such magnetic entertainers as the Deshon company.

The opera was "The Bohemian Girl," the heaviest, and in many respects the prettiest sung by the company during their engagement.

Mr. Deshon has surrounded himself with singers in whom there is also a pronounced element of comedy, and with such a company in hand the light operas through which ripple a vein of comedy would naturally be chosen. While these are played with a dash and finish that have made Deshon famous, the departure of last night demonstrated that operas more pretentious can be undertaken and performed with great credit by his company.

Miss Tellula Evans met the requirements of Arline in a manner that was entirely satisfactory. She possesses a pure high soprano voice of excellent timbre, the upper notes being at all times full, true and musical, and her rendition of "I Dremt I Dwelt in Marble Halls" was in every respect a gem.

"The Gipsy Queen" of Miss Roche was a clever bit of work and her solo in the second act was warmly applauded.

Mr. Claude Amsden as Devilshoof gave a very artistic and clever portrayal of the part and his magnificent bass voice was displayed to great advantage. Messrs. Neal, Sweeny and DeLacey played their respective parts in a highly creditable manner, especially the former, who received a well merited encore for his rendition of "The Heart Bowed Down."

Mr. Deshon was not in the cast last night, but by request he went on between the second and third acts and sang two of his catchy topical songs which were received with tumultuous applause and encores.

Tonight "Chimes of Normandy" will be presented, with Frank Deshon as Gaspard, and at matinee "The Bohemian Girl."

A SMALL FINE

Imposed on Sam Sarling, the Man Who Was Shot.

Sam B. Sarling, the man who was shot Sunday night, was tried before Recorder Calhoun yesterday and fined $3.75.

There was nothing in the evidence against Sarling which would have warranted a heavier fine, as no criminal intent was shown.

Sarling is a white man and is very highly connected. He was raised in Thomson, Ga., and lived in Augusta up to a few weeks ago. For three years he has been a news butcher on the Georgia railroad.

From Birmingham to Minneapolis.

The Richmond and Danville will run an excursion from Birmingham to Minneapolis by way of Atlanta and Washington. The southern delegates want to go by Washington to confer with the leaders and make special arrangements about expenses.

FRED DOUGLASS,

The Distinguished Representative of the African Race.

THE SUBJECT, "SELF-MADE MEN,"

Is What He Lectured On, but He Wound Up by Speaking of Things in General.

Fred Douglass, the "plumed knight" of the African race in America, lectured in Atlanta last night at the Loyd street church.

There was quite a sprinkling of white faces in the large audience that gathered to hear the distinguished speaker, while ranged about the platform were several prominent people of both races.

When he stood up to address the crowd, with the light falling upon his bushy hair causing it to look like the halo of Mahomet, the applause of the audience broke out into deafening cheers, and it was several minutes before the speaker was allowed to proceed.

At last when silence was restored a clear, penetrating voice that seemed to come from an Anglo-Saxon throat, went out in clear accent over the congregation and filled every part of the auditorium.

An "I thank you, sir," he began, turning around and addressing the speaker who had introduced him, "for the kind and complimentary manner in which you have presented me to your friends and fellow citizens. If I am expected to make a sectional speech or to fan the fires of discord, I am sorry to say that my audience will be disappointed. I am not here to extenuate or excuse the brutality that is charged against my race, nor to assail the mobs by which certain crimes have been punished. My words tonight shall be unimpassioned and sober."

He then announced his subject: "Self-Made Men," and proceeded in an interesting way to speak of the qualities and attributes of successful men, declaring that manhood and perseverence were essential above everything else. The lecture was here and there interspersed with apt quotations from Shakespeare and Burns, and every now and then scintillated with bright flashes of wit.

Never Went to School.

"I have never," said the speaker, "enjoyed a day's schooling in my life. The little education I possess I have gained by attentive listening and by thoughtfully meditating upon what I have heard. I was a slave when a boy and was to work from morning till night without ever seeing a book. I used to pray on the old plantation in Virginia for the Lord to give me my liberty, as if it was the Lord who kept me in bondage instead of the old fellow down yonder, but it did not come in time for me to realize the benefit of an education."

"Give the Negro Fair Play."

"The negro is now a free citizen," proceeded the speaker, now rapidly becoming enthusiastic, "and he is daily showing himself worthy of his citizenship. I only ask that you give the negro fair play and let him alone. If you give him fair play, I venture to say that he will hold his own against the world."

"I know you are persecuted," said he addressing his brethren, "shamefully mistreated and abused, but the way to get the strength out of tea is to put it in hot water—you are now in hot water, but be of good courage and you will show to the world that you are men."

Opposes Going to Africa.

He next touched upon the popular craze of emigrating to Africa: "They will tell you that Africa is a great country, a country full of gold and of palm trees, but I tell you to stay at home. The glory of Africa is in her palm trees and not in her men. America is the place for you, and here I advise you to stay at home.

A Unique Comparison.

"The white people look upon the negro with contempt, and call him a 'nigger.' I never object," said he, "to being called a 'nigger,' for whenever a man speaks to me in such a way I just feel like a donkey had kicked at me and got left. John L. Sullivan refused to fight Peter Jackson because he was a 'nigger,' but the reason was not the color so much as in the strong arm of the negro athlete.

The Elevated Railway an Idea of the Negro.

"It is said that the negro has never originated anything, but nevertheless the elevated railway of New York city is a monument of the negro's skill and originality. It was first conceived in the brain of William Detes, and he is so credited in the encyclopedias.

"I entertain no malice," said he in conclusion, "towards the white people. A member of my old master's family came to me not long ago, and telling me of her want and destitution, implored my assistance. I remembered that I had been a slave of her father, but I forgave the past and secured for her a position with the secretary of agriculture. I have faith in the future of the negro, and I believe he will prove himself the equal of the bravest and the peer of the best in upholding the dignity and honor of the republic."

The Universities.

Dr. R. T. Hall read a report from the committee on theological seminaries relating to Union and Columbia seminaries, Tuscaloosa institute and other schools. The report shows these institutions to be in a flourishing condition, well managed and well attended and accomplishing great work for scores of churches and many young men preparing for the ministry. The report was adopted.

The report of the standing committee on education was read by Rev. D. A. Planck. It recommends that presbyteries throughout the bounds of the assembly raise $30,000 this year to forward the work of education; also the establishment of Presbyterian schools as auxiliary work of theological schools. The report did not recommend a change of policy as to extending aid to beneficiaries, as asked by the resolution introduced Saturday by Rev. John A. Preston.

Rev. Mr. Preston gave notice that he would move an amendment by incorporating the plan set forth in his resolution.

Work Among the Colored People.

The regular order, unfinished business, the receiving and consideration of the report on colored evangelization was taken up and adopted. It reviewed the work of the executive committee and the general secretary and complimented the same. It urged more liberal financial assistance from the church to prosecute work among the colored people. It recommended negotiations with the freedmen's board as to co-operation in the work of evangelization.

Upon this recommendation, Dr. Palmer expressed doubt as to the wisdom of such action. He was not ready to discuss it, but questioned its propriety.

Rev. A. L. Phillips, secretary of the work, earnestly advocated the recommendation and made a spirited, instructing speech. He said the matter was recommended to be reported back to the assembly at the next session before definite action be taken, and he hoped the recommendation would be concurred in. The assembly adopted the recommendation.

Rev. Mr. Gilkerson moved to reconsider that section of the report recommending the first Sabbath in December as a day of prayer in behalf of colored evangelism, the programme of services to be furnished by the secretary. The motion prevailed.

The report of the committee on the synod of Florida was read. It excepted to certain language of the stated clerk of the synod referring to "candidates for the ministry" as "members of the synod." A motion to strike out the objection was lost and the report was adopted.

The committee's report on the synod of Mississippi was read and adopted.

Rev. A. L. Phillips made a report regarding the organization of an independent colored synod. The report presented strong reasons and much data in favor of the formation of such synod, but urged the great necessity in such an event of liberal aid from white presbyteries and synods in funds and information to the colored brethren.

The report elicited much interest. Dr. Mack moved its reference to a special committee for considering which prevailed. The report of the committee on directory for worship regarding various overtures on the subject was read. As other overtures had been received, the report was committed.

The report of the committee on the synod of Alabama was adopted, after which the assembly took a recess till tomorrow morning.

THE OLD, OLD STORY

Of a Promising Young Man Gone Wrong.

HE LIVED ABOVE HIS INCOME,

And Took Money from His Employers—A Young Man of Good Reputation in Trouble.

All day yesterday and throughout last night a very young man, stylishly dressed in the newest pattern of tailor-made clothes, a brown derby, a white tie, a puff-bosom shirt and a pair of red shoes, sat huddled up in one corner of cell No. 1 at the police station.

The smooth, boyish face of the youthful prisoner rested upon his hands, and his gaze was fixed upon the floor of his cell. The noise of the drunken prisoners he seemed not to hear. When spoken to he looked up with a start, as if waked from sound slumber.

The young man was Albert Childers, and his story was the old, old story that has been told so many times before in the misadventures of many just such young men as Albert Childers.

Childers was arrested upon the charge of larceny after trust by Chief of Detectives Wright and Detectives Dave Looney and Ed Cason.

Childers is eighteen years old and was cashier for the Keely Company. The company discovered a shortage in its accounts some time ago, but could not trace it to any source, and the case was placed in the hands of the detectives.

The Story of Childers's Fall.

Three years ago Albert Childers entered the employ of the Keely Company, and since that time he has been continually at work in the establishment.

He is an exceptionally bright young man, and was liked by his employers. He was very popular with his associates and was "one of the boys."

He attended closely to his duties and no fault was ever found with his work. He had the profoundest confidence of his employers and several months ago he was made cashier of the establishment. This is a very responsible position, and it is the very highest compliment to young Childers that he was given a position where all the money would pass through his hands.

Childers's father is a very estimable gentleman and belongs to an excellent family, and no shadow of suspicion ever rested on the young cashier of the Keely Company.

About three weeks ago a mysterious shortage in accounts was discovered by the Keely Company. When the cash receipts were counted they did not tally with the salesbooks, but where the shortage came in no one was able to determine. The members of the firm watched closely every place where such a deficiency could occur, but they were unable to find any evidence at all.

Mr. R. E. O'Donnelly, one of the heads of the firm, placed the case in the hands of Chief of Detectives Wright last week, and the detectives began to work up the case.

Chief Wright and Detectives Looney and Cason worked on the case assiduously. They had very little clue to follow, but their knowledge of human nature soon led them to a solution of the riddle.

The eye of suspicion was first fixed upon young Albert Childers, the cashier. The detectives found that the young man had been living far above his salary and for the past six months had been a high roller indeed.

He had worn the finest clothing, he drove the slickest teams and lived in the swellest manner. With a salary of about thirty dollars per month his expenses ran up to over one hundred and fifty dollars per month; but his established integrity and high standing warded off any harsh suspicions that might have been aroused. None of the clerks in the establishment who knew Childers best ever suspected that he was dishonest.

Saturday night Detective Looney went to the young man and obtained a confession of the embezzlement from his own lips. The young fellow was penitent and heartbroken when his guilt was discovered, and asked that the matter be settled without giving any publicity to it.

Childers was brought to the station house and kept quietly under close guard.

How He Worked It.

That the young man is very shrewd is shown by the system which he employed in getting the funds of the company for so long and such great quantities without discovery.

The system he employed was calculated to cover his guilt effectively.

When a bill of goods is sold C. O. D., a bill is made out and sent with the goods, and a duplicate bill is left in the office, so that an account may be kept of the goods sold. These duplicate bills are locked in a safe, and it was not known that Childers knew the combination by which this safe was unlocked.

But he did, and he got possession of many of the duplicate bills, and thus all trace of the goods was lost. When the money would come in Childers would pocket it and no one would be the wiser for it as the duplicates were destroyed and no one would know that any such bill of goods was ever sold.

This system was kept up for a long time without discovery, but it was only natural, in the course of things, that some one would catch on to the shortage.

What the shortage amounts to, no one knows; Childers himself does not know. Childers has been getting money for the past seven months, he told the officers, and he estimates the amount at about five or six hundred dollars.

The company has no idea how much the loss is, but it fixes it at between $800 and $1,000.

The detectives are still at work on the case, and others may be implicated.

The members of the firm are very lienently disposed toward Childers on account of his age, and of his father.

Young Childers was seen in his cell yesterday, but would say nothing farther than that he had told all he knew to the detectives.

THE PICNIC

Of the United Irish Societies Tomorrow at Vinings Station.

The picnic of the United Irish societies on tomorrow will be the gayest of the season. The committee in charge has completed all arrangements. The game of baseball between the Emmets and the Hibernians will be umpired by Mr. Scott Thornton, who is well up on the fine points and is considered authority on the game. Other amusements such as football, sack races and wheelbarrow races have been arranged for. A great number of tickets have been sold and good order will prevail. Refreshments will be sold at the Ladies' Benevolent Society booth. A good time is promised all who attend. Tickets are good on all trains and can be had of members at the train which will leave at Whitehall street crossing.

OFF FOR EUROPE.

Charley Hill and Sam Venable Leave for a Three-Months' Trip.

The places that have known the smiling faces of Charley Hill and Sam Venable will know them no more during this summer.

These two clever and popular gentlemen left yesterday afternoon for New York, from whence they will sail for Europe in a few days. They will be gone for about three or four months touring Europe and having a good time.

A great many friends of the two gentlemen were at the train to bid them good-by and bon voyage.

During Mr. Hill's absence his brother, Mr. B. H. Hill, will act as solicitor general, and will prosecute all the cases that come up.

A SHORT STRIKE.

Brotherhood Men Walk Out and Keep on Walking.

THEIR BOYCOTT WAS A UNIQUE ONE.

Used to Free Passes, They Would Not Pay Exhorbitant Car Fare—Railroad News in General.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, now in session in Atlanta, went into a strike on Sunday which was the most remarkable in some respects of any in the history of labor.

It did not tie up the railroad, but it put on a boycott which completely stopped the revenue of the company. Within half an hour from the time the strike was ordered, the company capitulated and the brotherhood was victorious.

Six Pullman sleepers and two coaches loaded with members of the brotherhood and their families and of the auxiliary left Atlanta by the East Tennessee for Brunswick. That city was reached at 6:30 o'clock. After breakfast two hundred or more of the excursionists took the steamer City of Brunswick for Cumberland island.

Three one-mule cars were in waiting to haul the passengers up to the hotel a mile and a half away. Upon these cars the excursionists rushed as a beseiging army into a surrendered city. After great straining and pulling the well-fed mules started the cars and glided swiftly at the rate of three miles an hour along the track. Half of the crowd were left behind. They were to wait until the cars made the trip to the hotel and returned. As the day was balmy those who were left behind strolled up through the beautiful park on the island's bluff overlooking the broad sound.

On rolled the cars adown the iron-girt avenue shaded upon either side by stately pines. With a beautiful shiny nickel-plate bell punch suspended from his stalwart shoulders the conductor of this three-section train proceeded to collect toll from his passengers. He assessed each passenger 25 cents. Ten times the little bell jingled and the punch punched, as the archon accumulated dividends for his company. The eleventh passenger was a ...member of the auxiliary. She handed out Grickel of the current value of 5 cents ...gay ...s republic. In a gentle, bewitching ... the conductor informed the lady the fare was 25 cetns.

"...ut I am not going to Fernandina. I ... only going to Cumberland," she re...l.

"...he regular fare is a quarter up to the ...l," said the conductor.

"I am not paying for all on the seat, sir," said she, thinking that he had made a mistake.

"Twenty-five cents, please," came from the conductor.

All the other passengers were getting interested and they inquired the fare from the hotel back to the wharf. They were informed that it was the same—25 cents—and further, that the fare down to the beach and back was 25 cents each way.

"I will walk before I will pay that," the member of the auxiliary declared. She told the conductor to stop the car and, with the star and crescent throbbing on her breast, she got off. Every one else followed her, even those who had paid their fares. The second car came up and some one shouted: "Everybody off." All the passengers stepped off and in a few seconds the third car was emptied. It was all done so suddenly that the conductor, the drivers and the mules were nonplussed. They stood there on the track watching the crowd as it headed up the road towards the hotel. Those who had been left hurried forward to learn the trouble, imagining at first that there had been a breakdown. The empty cars stood still, but the excursionists passed them upon learning what the trouble was. It was a long mile and a half through the sand and the pine straw to the hotel, but the brotherhood and the auxiliary were on a strike together and they were firm. Guests and waiters thronged the piazzas at the approach of the head of the column. An engineer from Louisiana and one from Mississippi led the march. Somebody officially connected with the railway met the engineers upon their arrival. When the matter was explained it was stated on the part of the road that the conductor misunderstood his orders. Something had been said about a special rate for this large body of visitors and the special rate had been misinterpreted. The explanation was something like that. Then it was announced that the excursionists could ride all over the island and almost as much as they pleased for 35 cents. They did not treat through a grievance committee. There was no chairman of a board of adjustments to handle the grievance. If Grand Chief Arthur had been along he would have been only an individual in that strike. All were on the same footing—going up to the hotel.

Finally the cars came in with just four passengers. Only one was an engineer. As he rode up he was greeted with cries of "Scab." He did not understand, for he had remained on the wharf to look after the baggage and had not seen the boycott.

He gave up 15 cents for his ride, supposing that his brothers had done the same thing.

All day the strike was the topic. The excursionists had a hot walk, but they were not mad. The ladies were plucky and declared that they would walk five miles rather than pay the fare demanded.

A photographer with a kodak got several snap shots at the strikers and there will be some odd pictures on exhibition in a day or two.

This was the first general strike the brotherhood was ever in and the delegates chuckled all Sunday afternoon and yesterday over its success and the unanimity with which the boycott was sustained.

Cumberland is delightful now. The surf was splendid, and while Atlanta was shivering and chattering her teeth from the cold the engineers were having a jolly time in the waves.

After a good dinner at Mr. Morgan's hotel the excursionists were thoroughly happy. There were men in the party from Seattle, Los Angeles, Texas, Montana, Maine, Kansas, Michigan and from every other section of the United States, with a few from Canada. They picked ripe oranges from the trees, shells from the beach, cut palmetto and cactus from the upland and came away with many a souvenir of their trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan were taken by surprise, the excursion being much larger than they expected. The dispatch with which they prepared 200 extra dinners was a credit to the resources of the hotel in an emergency. The hotel opened yesterday for the season with 300 guests who went down to Brunswick on a special train. These guests are the contracting freight agents who passed through Atlanta Sunday night. The fishing at Cumberland is magnificent.

An Odd Accident.

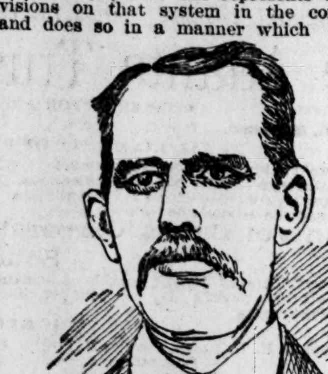

Engineer Charles D. Brown, of Detroit, delegate from division No. 1, is disgusted with Georgia mules. Mr. Brown was sitting on the dashboard of a car just before the boycott was declared. The mule hauling the next car came up. This mule was of that sex that invariably brays between daybreak and sunrise. Whether he was mad at having such a heavy load to pull or simply wanted to catch hold of the car in front with his teeth and thus make a sort of vestibule train is uncertain. But he made a vicious bite at the dashboard and caught the raiment of Mr. Brown about six inches below his suspender buttons. There the mule stopped while the car in front with Mr. Brown kept moving forward. The mule had an iron jaw, and his teeth were stronger than the garment or rather the garments. As the first car moved on the second mule was left with a mouthful of blue clothes and another material which was lighter in color and texture. The unfortunate delegate was wearing a long Prince Albert coat. When he got off to walk he so pinned his coat that it would not flutter in the wind. After reaching the hotel the delegate from division No. 1 remaining in bed while some patching was done.

Mr. Thad Sturgess, general passenger agent of the Cumberland Island route, met the excursionists at Brunswick and was very attentive to the engineers. He gave them a charming ride on the steamer to and from the island.

Mr. Gus Anderson, city passenger agent of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia, accompanied the party, the special train having been given by his road and the Pullman company. The excursionists returned yesterday morning.

C. N. Devinney.

Mr. Devinney represents division 109, located at Philadelphia, Penn. He has been an engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad for twenty years. He represents three divisions on that system in the convention and does so in a manner which reflects the world. He will talk of his town by the hour and he almost makes every one he meets think as he does about the Cream City.

Thomas R. Hills.

Mr. Hills is a delegate from division 225, located at Paducah, Ky. Mr. Hills has been a delegate on several occasions and has always proven himself worthy of the confidence of his constituents. He is most charming and genial in his manner

nated from him. He is quiet and retiring in his manner, yet his influence and good advice permeates the entire convention. Among his co-laborers on the Pennsylvania railroad system he is the recognized head of all societies. He is also secretary of the Brotherhood's Savings and Building Association of New York city and has assisted largely in making it a grand success. Mr. Currie is accompanied by his wife, a most estimable lady, and it is unnecessary to say that their domestic happiness is complete.

Railroad Notes.

—Traffic Manager Knapp, of the Atlanta and Florida, and General Freight Agent P. J. McGovern, of the Georgia Pacific, were in the city yesterday.

—The contracting freight agents were dined at Dalton Springs.

—A rate war is on at Americus between the Sam road and the Central. The Central began selling round-trip tickets to Montgomery on Sunday for $2. Deacons, preachers and sisters in the negro churches aided and abetted in selling the tickets. The Sam road puts its tickets on sale today.

—General Manager Whalen's limited low-rate ticket over the Atlanta and Florida has been withdrawn, the road having secured some important concessions.

Inspected the System.

General Manager W. H. Green, of the Richmond and Danville, returned yesterday from a two weeks' trip over the entire system. This was an annual inspection trip for a conference with division superintendents about repairs and betterments, that should be made during the summer.

Speaking of Captain McBee, Captain Green said that the Richmond and Danville's doors are open to him if he wants to come back.

CHIEF ARTHUR DENIES IT.

He Says That a Consolidation with the Conductors Is Not Proposed.

Grand Chief Arthur stated yesterday that there is no movement to consolidate the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Order of Railway Conductors, as reported in the north. Nothing of the kind has been proposed in this convention or is likely to be proposed.

The engineers seem to think that both organizations will get along better if they remain independent. The engineers have been under a strict discipline of their own making so long that it is second nature to them. No other similar organization is so well disciplined.

The engineers are working hard to get away this week. They rushed business yesterday. There are no big questions before this convention, and the delegates are anxious to get home. They feel that their divisions may not like their taking up so much time for the work accomplished. And yet the convention has been working steadily and faithfully.

S. H. HARDWICK GOES.

He Leaves the Central Railroad on June 1st.

Savannah, Ga., May 23.—(Special.)—W. A. Winburn was appointed passenger agent of the Central railroad of Georgia today, to succeed Sam H. Hardwick. Mr. Hardwick is going to the Richmond and Danville, probably to the Georgia Pacific division. The appointment will take effect June 1st. Mr. Winburn is at present chief clerk in the traffic department.

Sam Hardwick is the last of the Richmond and Danville officials who came in when the lease was made. He is the most energetic and the ablest of all the younger passenger men in this part of the country. His policy was quite different from the old style of doing things on the Central. By getting a one-cent-a-mile rate for the May week this year, and enabling Savannah to draw the largest crowds she has ever had on any such gala occasion, he made the whole city his friend.

He has certainly built up the Central's passenger traffic, and has cut down the expenses of his office, saving thousands of dollars to the company.

Knowing his ability, the Richmond and Danville made him an offer, which he has accepted.

This change was not unexpected, as he was not anxious to stay with the Central under the recervership management, the policy of which has been to remove the Richmond and Danville men as the Richmond and Danville removed old Central men.

THE MEMPHIS COCK FIGHT.

Steve Moore, of Atlanta, who has made a reputation as one of the most successful cockfighters in the south, is now pocketing a fortune up in Memphis.

Tennessee and Arkansas dollars are jingling in Stephen's pockets.

One of the biggest cocking mains ever held in the south is now in progress in West Memphis and Steve Moore is around that pit with many coops of the best birds in the south. A special to The Constitution last night tells the story of Moore's success. It says:

Memphis, Tenn., May 23.—S. S. Moore, of Atlanta, entered his Georgia birds in the Bill cocking main at West Memphis today and won five out of the six fights. The main is worth $3,000 to the winner and will continue until Wednesday night. Only one fight in the main came off yesterday and that was won by Moore's red rooster of the war horse strain.

The defeated bird belonged to Pat Kavanaugh, of Arkansas, and was killed in twelve minutes.

Both birds weighed four pounds seven ounces.

In the five hack fights Moore's chickens won all but one, killing their opponents in from five to thirty minutes. Besides the stakes on the main of seventeen birds, each side in the hack fights put up $100. Several Atlanta sports came over with Moore, and the Georgia crowd pulled down several thousand dollars from Tennessee and Arkansas people.

A well-known Boston lady says: "Every spring I take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and know nothing of that terrible tired feelin so prevalent at that seosan of the year." Give this medicine a trial.

The infant child of Lieutenant and Mrs. J. F. Ponder, of Fort McPherson, died yesterday morning. The baby will be laid to rest in the barracks cemetery today.

WHO PITCHES BALL FOR ATLANTA.

The Mobile Aggregation Grows Tired of Trying, While the Atlantas Thump Frank All Over the Ground.

The Atlantas played a magnificent game of ball yesterday much to the sorrow and regret of Mobile.

But the game pleased the Atlanta fans.

And last night the praises of Maskrey and his men were sung in high "G," all the voices being of the most musical order. Everybody appeared to have forgotten that Atlanta had ever lost a game.

Now, if they'll just make that appearance a reality it will do everybody good.

The game was certainly a great one, just such a game as the Atlanta boys can play when the men are all in shape and in regular position. Friend did the pitching for Atlanta, and nothwithstanding the fact that he gave five men bases on balls, pitched a most remarkable game. Mobile was simply unable to hit and of the four hits the black birds got, two were dead, hard scratches, as a study of the score will show. His work at critical points was grand. That pleasant smile caught the eye of Kelly's boys and they couldn't see Friend's balls at all. With every game that boy improves and before the team gets home Danny Friend will be one of the acknowledged leaders of the league in his box work.

Frank, the pitcher who has queered every club in the league, was put in the box. But Atlanta had on her batting garments and that same Frank was first knocked out of the box by them and then taken out by Kelly.

Hill was hungry for base hits and piled up three while Arner found it easy work to knock out two. Berryhill got his eye on the ball again and thumped it over in the bay. Long showed the Mobile people how to steal bases and four indictments for theft are now recorded against him.

Every member of the team fielded excellently as a study of the score will show.

The Story from Mobile.

Mobile, Ala, May 23.—(Special.)—Atlanta laid Mr. Frank out in great style today, and as the Mobiles played an awful game in the field the visitors had no trouble in winning. Friend was in the box for Atlanta, and he pitched great ball, allowing the home team four little hits.

Friend was backed up finely in the field also, the boys in blue cutting off many a base hit by their sharp work on the lines. Frank was given a warm reception by the Atlanta batters and the visitors evened up things for the 16 to 0 game that the Dutchman pitched against them in Atlanta by knocking him out of the box and reducing the size of his hat band considerably.

Hill led at the bat. In fact this has been the case in all the games played here, that player obtaining eight hits out of fourteen times at the bat. Outside of Hill's batting and the general good work of the Atlantas in the field the feature was the base stealing of Long, the active left fielder. He paralyzed everybody by getting to the first on balls and stealing second and third in quick succession. Ardner and Westlake played pretty ball, and Hayes fielded his position well for Mobile. Schabal caught in faultless style and impressed every one as being one of the best back stops seen here. The Atlantas left tonight for Montgomery, where Manager Maskrey expects to capture a majority of the games. The Atlanta team is one of the strongest so far seen here, and their playing and manner of conducting themselves have won for the team a good word from all ball lovers. Mr. Maskrey and his men are already favorites in Mobile, and when they return good crowds will greet them. Whalen was off in his decisions again today, and Maskrey claimed that he got the worst of it.

A Twelve-Inning Game.

New Orleans, May 23.—(Special.)—New Orleans picked up a jewel in Pitcher Ortmann, of Chicago, who not only pitched with skill and coolness, but fielded in fine style. New Orleans lost the game, however, principally through inability to bat Phillips. Chattanooga suffered from the same complaint. In almost every inning both sides had men on bases, but a series of phenomenal catches and throws cut them off without runs.

In the twelve innings New Orleans did not make an error and on Chattanooga's side three errors were the only ones that counted.

It looked like New Orleans' game until the fifth, when a hit by Geiss on the right foul line brought in two runs. For seven innings after that the home plate was barred until finally, when Burke was on second Ortmann made a wild pitch and yielded a base. A negro picked up the ball just before McKie got to it and McLaughlin decided it a blocked ball and allowed Burke to score the winning run.

Score by innings:

Levis Is Sick.

Montgomery, May 23.—(Special.)—The second game between Montgomery and Birmingham was another great game of ball and was won for the visitors by a heavy and fortunate hit by Niles in the sixth when the score stood two and two. That hit sent the ball curling over the fence. In the home run Burns, who had been fastened on third for some time, contentedly trotted in ahead of the home run driver, Niles. The visitors scored in the fourth two runs by fortunate hits, and the home team scored one in the fifth and sixth, but the very best kind of playing on both sides kept the run makers in the woods after the sixth proved so fortunate for the visitors.

In the first half of the fifth an odd accident happened to Mauck, who was in the box for Birmingham. Clark batted a hard ball to the center of the diamond, striking Mauck on the shin and bounding directly into the hands of Tanner, who had first, putting Clark out. Mauck was so severely hurt that he could not stand on his feet and Petty pitched the remainder of the game and one of the home team's runs was made off of Petty's delivery. Mr. Weikart, who umpired, was recently released by the Montgomery club and barring the fact that he did not declare a base runner out who had been hit by a batted ball his decisions gave satisfaction.

Score by innings:
Birmingham ....0 0 0 2 0 2 0 0 *—4

Summary—Earned runs—Birmingham, 2. Two base hit—Keith. Home run—Niles. Double plays—Stickney to Pietz; Lanser to Land. Bases on balls—Mauck, 1; Petty, 1; Behne, 1. Base hits—By Mauck, 1; by Petty, 1. Macon Makes a Shut Out.

Memphis, May 23.—(Special.)—The game between Memphis and Macon was the prettiest seen on the home grounds this season. Meaney and Bailey each pitched a great game and both were handsomely supported.

Memphis made the most hits but did not bunch them as Macon did. The special features were the batting of Phelan and a hard running capture of a high fly by Butler. The score should have been one to nothing and would have been but for costly errors of Moss and Behan. Craves, late of Macon, who succeeded Winston as manager of the Memphis team, did not make much of a showing in right field.

Score by innings:
Macon ....0 0 0 0 0 1 0 3 *—4

Summary—Earned run—Macon, 1. Errors—Memphis, 3; Macon, 1. Three base hits—Phelan and Butler. Sacrifice hits—Clingham and O'Connor. Stolen bases—Weddige, Veach, 2; O'Connor, 2. To Receive the Game in Detail.

The great interest that is manifested all over the city in the games abroad has resulted in arrangements to receive the full details of the games in Montgomery, New Orleans and Memphis.

At first it was intended to secure the opera house, but the engagement of the Deshon company makes this impossible. The next best thing was to secure the hall over No. 5 Decatur street. Western Union wires have been run in there and Operator Reilly, who has charge at the park, will receive the games. Every play will be received and the exact positions of the two nines will be kept on a long blackboard.

The room is not as large as was desired by those having the matter in charge, but comfortable seats have been put in to accommodate 100 people. There will be standing room for fifty or seventy-five more without crowding. In order to defray the expenses an admission fee of 25 cents will be charged. The hall has two entrances, 5 1-2 Decatur and 17 1-2 Peachtree.

Improving the Park.

Two important improvements were determined upon at a meeting of the directors of the Atlanta club last night.

The holes in right field—so unsightly and productive of home-run hits—are to be filled at once. The fence in that part of the field is to be raised so as to shut out the view of the five-centers who have been viewing the games from housetops and improvised towers. This will, it is believed, do away with all the noise about which the good people of that section of the city complain.

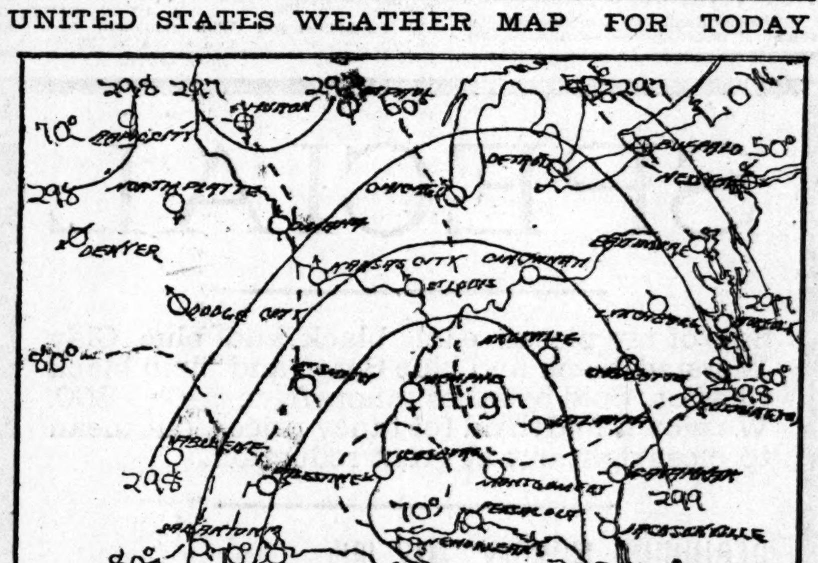

Then the grand stand is to be enlarged. Fifty feet additional is to be built on the right of the present stand back of first base. This will add not only to the comfort, but will greatly improve the appearance of the handsomest park in the south.

Then there are still other improvements—and notable ones—which will be hailed with delight by patrons of baseball. The Atlanta Traction Company will go ahead at once with its double track on Ira street to the grounds; the entrances and exits will be enlarged, and in every way possible the park will be made just what a ball park should be.

Baseball in Valdosta.

Valdosta, Ga., May 23.—(Special.)—The national game seems to be lagging in Valdosta this season. Yet there are no greater lovers of the game than can be found among Valdosta's business and professional men, and no town of its size in Georgia can organize a better amateur team. The boys are making an effort to organize on a safe basis now, and if the lovers of the game will offer the proper assistance, we may expect to be well entertained this summer.

UNITED STATES WEATHER MAP FOR TODAY

Explanatory Note.

The weather symbols on the map are as follows:

O CLEAR ⦶ FAIR ⊕ CLOUDY ⊗ RAIN ⊜ SNOW

Arrows fly with the wind. Dotted lines traverse regions of equal temperature. Figures at the ends show the degree of heat. Unbroken lines traverse regions of equal barometric pressure. Figures at the end of an unbroken line, as 29.9, 30.0, 30.1, etc., show that the air along the line if high enough to balance that many inches of mercury. Areas of high pressure are accompanied by a clear atmosphere, and "lows" by a moist air, clouds and rain.

At 8 o'clock last evening clear weather prevailed throughout the entire country, except at a few scattered points. The temperature throughout the western section of country increased rapidly yesterday, and last evening Huron, N. D., reported a temperature of 70 degrees, while Abilene, Texas, reported 84 degrees. In the section east of the Mississippi river thermal changes were very slight. The weather map of last evening shows no well-defined area of low pressure except along the middle Atlantic coast and in the vicinity of the great lakes no rain occurred. Fair and decidedly warmer weather, may be expected today.

The Argument Used

By the makers of the second-class baking powders to induce the dealer to push them off on Royal consumers is that they cost less than Royal and afford the dealer much more profit.

But you, madam, are charged the same price for them as for the absolutely pure Royal, which is perfectly combined from the most highly refined and expensive materials. The lower cost of the others is caused by the cheap, impure materials used in them, and the haphazard way in which they are thrown together.

Do you wish to pay the price of the Royal for an inferior baking powder, made from impure goods, of 27 per cent. less strength? If you buy the other powders, insist upon having a corresponding reduction in price.

A Great Railroad.

The Pennsylvania railroad, its main division running from Pittsburg to Philadelphia, is perhaps one of the most perfect systems of railroads in America. Its branches, to many large cities througout the west, are no less perfect, and the traffic it hauls is something wonderful.

Its passenger department is managed with the greatest care and accuracy. Mr. George W. Boyd, the assistant passenger agent, is well and favorably known throughout the south for his courtesy and genius in railroading. The people who travel over the territory through which the Pennsylvania and its branches run, can find no better road than it.

THE NEW YORK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, May 23.—The stock market today was rather active in the forenoon, but quieted down later, and with a continuation of the demand from shorts to cover prices were advanced all along the line with some specially heavy advances in a few specialties. The Grangers were the leading prominent stocks today, and Atchison, St. Paul, Burlington and Rock Island gave tone to the market, the last two showing material gains, while the decline in Erie preferred was followed by a full recovery. Among the specialties there were sharp upward movements in Susquehanna and Western stocks and Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic stocks, Susquehanna and Western preferred rising 3 per cent. There was more strength and activity in the Coalers and the Industrials in the afternoon, but late in the day the bears made another vicious drive at Northern Pacific preferred and depressed its price from 54 3-4 to 52 7-8, but while the whole list was affected by such a decrease a greater portion of early gains were retained and final changes show a number of material advances. Susquehanna and Western preferred is up 3 1-2 per cent; Manhattan and Sugar, each, 1 3-8; Wheeling and Lake Erie, 1 1-4, and Rock Island, Lackawanna, Lake Shore and Cordage, each, 1 1-8. J. S. Bache & Co.'s Stock Letter.

By Private Wire to Youngblood & Haas.

New York, May 23.—The market here opened with a fine business doing and during the morning hours improved quite a little on very extensive buying by the larger shorts. The weakness in the wheat market and the better weather out west created the hope that the worst was over and a great many buying orders were also executed for Chicago account. The buying from this center was the closing up of contracts. The Atchison plan has led to a great deal of discussion and it clearly shows that this company has resorted to a new device to obtain money. By their present method of financiering the wants of the property will be supplied for the next four years, but at the end of that time their fixed charges will amount to $11,900,000, while the earnings for this year amounted to but $11,700,000, and not one cent of the earnings has been put into the improvement of the road. We think that the result will be that the Atchison 4s will improve by this new trade; that the incomes will also advance and be a less speculative bond, but we cannot see any future for the stock. The English newspapers attacked this new plan vigorously in their morning issues, and on this London sold about 50,000 incomes, but Boston and other parties bought all that were offered. We think there is still five points in buying these bonds. In the last hour the bears attacked values all around, claiming that a storm was again feared out west, and also upon the agricultural report of the state of Missouri, which shows the condition of the growing crops to be a very poor one. We think the Coalers will keep their present prices but we believe in selling the Grangers on rallies.

Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

NEW YORK, May 23—Spot sales in Liverpool this morning were 12,000 bales, and the demand from the trade seemed sufficiently active to support an advance in the future market in which quotations were from 1@2-64d better. While this was a surprise to our markets in so far as it disappointed the general expectation of a decline in Liverpool today, prices at the opening here were no higher, and by 1 o'clock had declined fully 10 points as compared with the highest figures of Saturday. During the early part of the session a light advance to 7.51 for August had been established upon telegrams from New Orleans that the river had made a bad break near Shreveport, but this seems to be without definite confirmation. The weekly crop bulletin, issued by the agricultural department, reports that the cotton crop has made favorable progress in almost every state, the sole exception being those localities which have been to some extent affected by the floods. This is to a great extent confirmed by private advices, and the general character of the crop news has imparted an easy undertone to the market from the start today. The weather throughout the west and southwest is generally reported to be warm and clear, exactly what is needed to secure favorable results after the recent heavy rains. The absence of any important short interest was conspicuously evident today, and it seems likely from now on for the next few weeks the market will be entirely controlled by weather conditions. For the immediate future lower rivers seem likely to result in lower prices. During the afternoon the market recovered slightly, closing steady at about 5 points decline on Saturday's final prices. The buying during the afternoon which resulted in the slight rally that was made was mainly for New Orleans account, where the weakness was not as great as in this market.

Lehman Bros.' Cotton Letter.

By Private Wire to A. P. Youngblood.

NEW YORK, May 23—Our market this morning opened a few points higher in response to the more encouraging Liverpool advices, values there having shown at one time an improvement of 1@2-64d. Trading here was quite fair, and prices remained very steady till very near noon when various messages were received from the south speaking of a more favorable outlook for the threatened districts along the Mississippi, more particularly as affecting cotton, and on this, in almost less time than it takes to write it, the whole aspect of the market here changed. There were anxious sellers on all bids, and prices almost without recovery sold off about 10 points, developing great weakness on the decline, which furthermore brought into play quite a number of southern selling orders. The fact, however, that New Orleans did not give way to the same extent that we did here served to arrest the panicky feeling which prevailed at one time, and the market closes with a slight rally from the lowest figures touched. We place no special stress upon the news from the south because, admitting a great deal that is expected or had already occurred, we think the probabilities are values will be more influenced by the influences from abroad than from any other source, and if Liverpool holds steady and continues to take a fair quantity of spot cotton, there should be no reason to expect any special giving way unless the future prospects of the crop bring about such a course. In itself the market ought to show stability.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, May 23—Surprise was in store for speculators today—the biggest weekly decrease ever reported on record in the visible supply of wheat. It caused a sharp recovery from the general decline in prices caused by the sudden general improvement in the weather. Nevertheless, compared with Saturday's closing, everything on the list is lower this evening—wheat ⅜c, corn 1⅝c, oats ⅜c and pork 12½c. May corn nominally shows a decline of 10c. Good weather everywhere and lower prices in Liverpool caused a gradual drop at the opening of the wheat market of 1⅛c from Saturday's closing, but upon the report of a decrease of over 4½ million bushels in the visible supply the market took a sudden jump of ½c, but the advance was met with the news of a big Indian shipment 2,200,000 bushels—and a rumor that the world's shipments to Europe were over 8,000,000 bushels. The opening was about ⅜@¾c lower than Saturday's closing, ruled weak and declined ½c more, then rallied 1⅛c, again eased off ¾c at the close.

Corn was weak and lower on fine weather, marked improvement in grading and free realizing and short selling. The May deal looked to be on the point of collapse. The short interest was apparently largely diminished last week, and there was not much wanted today, while realizing by the longs was heavy. There was considerable talk of large settlements by shorts on private terms. The initial trades were at 1½@2c decline from Saturday's close, and a further weakening of ⅝@¾c set in, prices then advancing 1⅛@1¼c and easing off later ½c. There were no transactions in May corn until about 15 minutes after the opening when a sale was made of 10,000 bushels at 68c. There were a few sellers who continued to offer May at lower and still lower prices until it finally touched 60c, but altogether the amount of it which changed hands probably did not exceed 100,000 bushels.

Oats were traded in fairly, and an unsettled feeling prevailed. The market opened weaker and ⅝@1c lower and declined ¼@⅜c more in sympathy with wheat and corn, but when they advanced and the visible supply statement came in, a firmer feeling developed and prices advanced ⅝@1c. The close was steady.

Notwithstanding the firmness in live hogs at the stock yards provisions opened 2½@5c lower than Saturday's final figures on reports of fine weather. Offerings of pork for September delivery by a prominent packing institution drove the market down several points, but lard and ribs scarcely participated in the break. Grain was also a strong element in producing weakness, but when wheat advanced on the visible supply figures provisions boomed in sympathy, the local crowd who bought early rushing to cover. This was followed by a slight reaction, the market closing steady for pork, firm for lard and strong for ribs.

Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Letter.

By Private Wire to A. P. Youngblood.

Chicago, May 23.—Traders and commission houses were quite generally disappointed in the action or rather inaction of the wheat market today. Some looked for higher prices, some for lower, but they all agreed the market would be active. The result was a very inactive market opened about 3-4 of a cent lower than Saturday's close, and closed exactly at the opening price remaining around 82 1-4 the greater portion of the session. It became quiet at one time, showing 1-2 to 3-4 of a cent advance on the visible decrease of 4,500,000 bushels. Antwerp and Berlin markets were higher, English and French markets lower. Reported shipments from India at 2,250,000 were denied. Weather conditions throughout the United States are remarkably fine. Corn opened about 1 1-2 cents lower, remaining around the opening price the greater part of the day; advanced about 1 cent per bushel from the lowest figure, but finally closed with nearly all the advance lost. Should the favorable weather continue for a week the receipts will undoubtedly be very large, and holders will have to be very industrious to maintain prices.

The market for hog product was not very active but strong there being a good demand for lard and ribs for shippers.

OUR SOLDIER BOYS.

Today the First of Them Go Into Camp Northen.

A BRILLIANT SPECTACLE IT WILL BE

When the New Camping Grounds Are Formally Taken Possession Of—Colonel Mercer Is in Command.

Camp Northen will be opened at 10 o'clock today with fifteen companies and about four hundred and eighty men, including the First and Fourth regiments of Georgia volunteers, under Colonels George A. Mercer and Ed L. Wright. Colonel Mercer will be the officer in command of the camp this week.

The Fourth regiment arrived in Griffin, from southwest Georgia, last night, and the First is expected by the early train this morning. The following companies compose these regiments:

The First Regiment Infantry.

First Regiment, Infantry: Colonel George A. Mercer, Lieutenant Colonel Peter Reilly, Major John Schwarz, Adjutant Robert C. Gaillard, Quatermaster Michael A. O'Byrne, Commissary John T. Ronau, Surgeon William W. Owens, Paymaster Edward W. Karow, all of Savannah.

The companies are as follows: Irish Jasper Greens, Captain John Flannery; Republican Blues, Captain William D. Dixon; Oglethorpe Light Infantry, Captain William S. Rockwell; Savannah Cadets, Captain Jordan F. Brooks; German Volunteers, Captain Henry Holshorn, all of Savannah.

The Fourth Regiment Infantry.

Fourth Regiment, Infantry: Colonel Ed L. Wright, of Albany; Lieutenant Colonel J. O. Varnedoe, of Valdosta; Major T. N. Hopkins, of Albany; Adjutant F. L. Wilder, of Albany; Quartermaster F. B. Dillard, of Fort Gaines; Commissary Morris Weslosky, of Albany; Surgeon Wallace W. Bacon, Paymaster J. Yoerger, of Brunswick; Chaplain J. H. Hoebner, of Thomasville.

The companies are as follows: Dawson Guards, Captain James H. Guerry; the Thomasville Guards, Captain Charles P. Hansell; the Waycross Rifles, Captain J. McP. Farr; the Dublin Light Infantry, Captain Lucien Q. Stubbs; the Albany Guards, Captain William E. Wooten; the Quitman Grays, Captain J. R. Barnes; the Valdosta Videttes, Captain Richard A. Peeples; the Brunswick Riflemen, Captain A. C. Wilcoxon; the Southern Rifles, Captain Jesse J. Bull, of Talbotton, and the Fort Gaines Guards.

Governor Northen will leave the city this morning on the 7:10 o'clock train for Griffin, and will be entertained at the residence of Mr. Kincaid, president of the Griffin cotton mills. The governor has invited his staff to meet him, and a number of them are expected.

Adjutant General Kell and Colonel A. J. West and Colonel John S. Candler will go down from Atlanta. Colonel J. D. Harrell, of Bainbridge, and Colonel G. H. Waring, of Cement, have informed the governor that they will be on hand, and Colonel J. D. Boyd, another member of the staff, resides at Griffin.

The camp will be opened at 10 o'clock a. m., and the review will occur about 4 o'clock p. m. The governor and staff will proceed to the camp, and the governor will there review the troops. The South Side Park Company has announced a parade for 10 o'clock to escort the governor to the camp, but this programme was made without consultation with the authorities, and Adjutant General Kell says it will not be in accordance with military usage for the governor to go to the camps until the troops are drawn up in order for review. As the camp is not opened till 10 o'clock, it will be impracticable to have the review before afternoon.

It is understood that Camp Northen will be formally presented to the state by Captain David J. Bailey, Jr., president of the South Side Park Company, and will be received by the governor in behalf of the state.

Guard's Officers Going Down.

Captain Kendrick and the other officers of the Gate City Guard will go down to Griffin to spend today and will take in the opening exercises. They will also, it is needless to add, keep their eyes open and if there are any pointers to be caught they'll catch them. The friends of the Guard say that company will be the banner company at the encampment this year.

THE SCENE AT CAMP NORTHEN.

Companies Arriving by Every Train to Take Part in the Encampment.

Griffin, Ga., May 23.—(Special.)—Tomorrow the encampment opens, and everything now points to an auspicious opening. Companies and advance guards of companies have been arriving on every train today, and tonight the historic spot known the country over as Camp Northen is dotted with white tents, lit with campfires and looks a soldier's campfield indeed.

The first of the military men to arrive was Colonel George A. Mercer, commander of the camp, the first of the week. With him came a detachment from several of the other companies.

The Brunswick Rifles also sent in a detachment on the early morning train. At 9 o'clock Captain Edward Field, of Battery L, McPherson's barracks, Atlanta, arrived, bringing with him sixty United States regulars. Captain Field is an officer of commanding appearance, and is in command of a fine body of men.

This afternoon several companies have arrived and are quartered at the camp grounds. The Valdosta Videttes, twenty-seven strong, Captain Morris commanding, arrived at 6 o'clock by the Central. A few minutes later a special train from Columbus, over the Georgia Midland and Gulf road, pulled up at the camp grounds with the Thomasville, Albany, Dawson and Quitman companies on board. No other troops will arrive before morning.

Newspaper men are somewhat put out at the turn affairs have taken today. Headquarters for them had been promised, but when the effort to get into those quarters was made today Quartermaster Sergeant Keenan informed them that he had orders not to admit them and to remove their tents off the grounds. His order was imperative, and, of course, had to be obeyed. It is believed, however, by the fraternity here that some misunderstanding has resulted in the order, and that when Governor Northen, Adjutant Kell and Quartermaster General West arrive tomorrow an understanding will be arrived at that will allow all inside the lines.

To the Survivors of the 13th Regiment of Georgia Mexican Volunteers.

Information is wanted in relation to one John Needham Pierce, said to have belonged to Company B, Thirteenth, who is now so demented that he cannot tell anything, and is an inmate of the Giles county poorhouse, but if he had his rights could be cared for like a defender of our flag should be. We have applied to the adjutant general of Georgia for information. If any Mexican veteran will send us the particulars about his company, regiment, etc., we will ever be under obligations.

THE NORMAL SCHOOL

Organized and Ready to Begin Work on July 11th.

THE FACULTY AND DEPARTMENTS

All Arranged by the Commission—Forty Rooms Fitted Up for Teachers—The Old Rock College.

Another important step in the progress of education has been taken. The State Normal college was organized at Athens Saturday, and a president and faculty were elected, and the courses of study decided upon. Arrangements have been made for a good summer's work, and the school will open on the 11th of July.

This important result has been reached in spite of obstacles that were regarded as almost insuperable for the time. When the last legislature accepted the gift of the Rock college from the State university, with the accompanying transfer of the moderate annuity from the Gilmer fund, the general assembly passed an act providing for the establishment of a state normal school, but refused to vote the $6,000 appropriation that was asked. There was nothing to start on but the old Rock college, near Athens, and $1,000 a year from the Gilmer fund. This, though a liberal gift from the university of the state, was not enough to start a normal school. What was to be done? The commission appointed by the governor had a hard problem to solve, but, by the genius of combination, it has done so with remarkable success. On Saturday the commissioners met in Athens to take action of some sort. The body was composed of Chancellor Boggs, of the university; State School Commissioner Bradwell, Dr. A. J. Battle, president of Shorter college; Mr. Lawton B. Evans, superintendent of the Augusta schools, and W. H. Baker, superintendent of the public schools in Savannah. The state school commissioner, who had been made chairman, happened to have at his disposal the Peabody fund of about seven hundred and fifty dollars, intended for the northernmost of the three Peabody institutes, which are to be carried on in Georgia this summer. By making the State Normal school do this work for upper Georgia, he could add that $750 to the $1,000 of the Gilmer fund. Then he had at his disposal, by the school law, $25 for a week's institute in each county. By combining a half-dozen county institutes and making the State Normal school do the instruction, he could add $150 more to the fund, and bring one hundred and fifty to two hundred teachers together as a fine body of material for the normal school to work on. This combination gave a fund of about one thousand, nine hundred dollars, and, with this, it was found that, by careful management, a normal school, with a strong faculty of six instructors, supplemented by special lectures from the university professors, could be maintained for two months this summer. Upon this basis it was resolved to begin, and the commission proceeded to organize the State Normal school by electing Lawton B. Evans president, with the following faculty:

Pedagogy: Lawton B. Evans, of Augusta.

Mathematics: W. M. Slaton, of Atlanta.

Geography: Otis Ashmore, of Savannah.

English grammar and literature: Euler B. Smith, of LaGrange.

Reading, writing and spelling: Miss Mary Bacon, of Milledgeville.

History: G. C. Bond, superintendent of Athens schools.

Besides this faculty, other instructors will deliver lectures. Among them Chancellor Boggs will lecture on pedagogy, Professor D. C. Barrow and Professor Snelling, of the university, on mathematics; Professor Charles Morris, on English literature, and Mr. E. C. Branson, on geography.

State School Commissioner Bradwell is enthusiastic over the prospect of the normal school, and, after giving the above information, he added:

"We have reduced the expense of the trip for teachers to a minimum. There are sixty good rooms in the Rock college, and, with $300 voted by the city of Athens, we have purchased plain, but comfortable, furniture for forty rooms on two floors, one floor to be set apart for ladies and the other for gentlemen. In addition to this, we have engaged a restaurant keeper to serve good meals in the dining hall for $8 a month. If teachers will bring bed linen and towels, they can keep the expense down to the $8. I will be in charge of the county institute the first week and the Peabody institute the next four, and I expect to live in the college in this fashion. We expect to get railroad rates of one fare for the round trip.

"The Rock college is a handsome and substantial stone building, with beautiful grounds, six or seven acres in extent. The yard is full of exquisite flowers, and the place is a charming one. Rev. J. B. Hunnicutt, one of the faculty of the State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, resides in the Rock college with his family, and will remain there. During the session of the normal school, we will elect one of the lady teachers matron of the institution.

"The compensation of the faculty is not large. They will have to make their work largely a matter of patriotism, but, I am satisfied, they will all accept and do the work with enthusiasm. The session will begin on July 11th, and last until the 3d of September. The normal school will occupy the whole of this time, carrying the work steadily forward in all of its departments. The combined county institute for six counties will be in operation the first week, and the faculty of the State Normal school will be its instructors. Likewise, the North Georgia Peabody institute will be in session the next twenty-five days, and the faculty of the State Normal school will be its instructors. We expect 150, or more, teachers from the six neighboring counties as a nucleus for the first week. Their attendance during the county institute is compulsory. After that, having seen the excellence of the normal school, most of them will stay. With this nucleus we will draw a very large attendance of teachers."

Vistors to the University.

The governor has appointed the following visitors to the State university:

S. D. Bradwell, of Atlanta; A. W. Van Hoose, of Gainesville; J. C. Harris, of Cedartown; A. I. Branham, of Brunswick, and D. G. Lee, of Bryon.

Delegates to the Nicaragua Canal Convention

The governor has appointed the following gentlemen delegates to the Nicaragua canal convention, which meets at St. Louis June 2d:

W. W. Gordon, H. M. Comer and H. S. Haines, of Savannah; C. P. Goodyear and W. B. Burroughs, of Brunswick; G. Gunby Jordan, of Columbus; Pat Walsh, of Augusta; I. W. Avery and Henry Jackson, of Atlanta, and Jeff Lane, of Macon.

Convicts Out by Death and Pardon.

Two convicts, Rufus Williams and William Daniels, sent up from Paulding county for murder, in 1882, were pardoned yesterday, because new evidence confirms the belief entertained by some at the time of their trial, that they ought not to have been found guilty. Judge, solicitor and jury ask their pardon.

The superintendent at the Chattahoochee Brick Company's works reports the death of Peter Marcus, colored, on the 20th of May, from scrofula. He says in the report: "Peter died of a chronic case of scrofula, contracted while he was in jail before he came to the penitentiary."

The death of Robert Lewis, colored, of consumption, is reported from the same camp, on the 16th.

Gray's camp, on the Chattanooga Southern railroad, reports the recapture, on the 21st, of Joe Martin, a convict who escaped from that camp on the 1st of May, last year.

Colonel George Jones, principal keeper, passed through the city yesterday en route to Dade mines and Chickamauga, on his annual tour of inspection, which will last till June 1st. Colonel Bob Wright, assistant keeper, has charge of the office this month.

Death of Mr. R. J. Walls.

Rome, Ga., May 23.—(Special.)—R. J. Walls, a well known contractor and master mechanic, dropped dead early this morning. Last night he had an attack of heart disease, and towards morning somewhat recovered. About 4:30 o'clock he was again taken ill, and while getting up from bed fell to the floor dead. He was sixty-two years old and leaves a wife and several children to mourn his death.

Well Brought Up —the woman who uses Pearline. She knows a good thing when she sees it; she tries Pearline, and then uses it. Her clothes are washed with half the labor and without harm; her house is cleaned in half the time, and without trouble. Everything is done with little work; she has done with hard work, for she has Pearline.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, do the honest thing—send it back. 278 JAMES PYLE, N.Y.

FAT FOLKS REDUCED. Mrs. Alice Maple, of Oregon, Mo., says: "My weight was 200 lbs., now it is 168 lbs., a reduction of 162 lbs., and I feel so much better that I would not take $1,000 and be put back where I was. I am both surprised and proud of the change. I recommend your treatment to all sufferers from obesity. Will answer all inquiries if stamp is inclosed for reply." PATIENTS TREATED BY MAIL. CONFIDENTIAL. Harmless, and with no starving, inconvenience, or bad effects. For particulars address, with 6 cents in stamps,

THE GRADY HOSPITAL

This Afternoon It Will Be Open to Inspection by the Ladies.

THE FORMAL DEDICATION TOMORROW.

Programme of Exercises—The Addresses That Will Be Made in Delivering It and Accepting It.

The Grady hospital will be dedicated tomorrow.

The dedication services will be very interesting and will doubtless be largely attended.

The building will be open this afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock for the ladies. All are cordially invited to go and inspect the building. Mr. Hirsch has perfected the arrangements for this reception and says that it will be an occasion not to be missed. This reception is tendered the ladies in order that they may avoid the crowd tomorrow.

Wednesday, May 24th, will be the forty-second birthday of Henry W. Grady, and this hospital is a lasting monument to his memory. The building will be elaborately decorated with flowers furnished by the ladies of the city.

There has been a change in the programme. Rev. Dr. Barnett has been unable to officiate and Rev. Dr. Strickler has consented to take his place.

The dedication services will open with a prayer by Dr. Strickler. Hon. Joseph Hirsch, chairman of the building committees and board of trustees, will deliver an address tendering the hospital to the city.

Hon. W. A. Hemrill will speak in behalf of the city, accepting the trust.

Hon. J. T. Gleam will then deliver an address.

After this Mayor Hemphill will turn over the keys of the hospital to the board of trustees, Hon. J. W. English receiving the trust in behalf of the board of trustees.

The closing prayer will be made by Rev. Leo Reich.

After the ceremonies the board of trustees will escort the mayor and distinguished guests through the departments of the building.

There is still $500 needed to fully equip the departments. A small contribution on tomorrow will make up the amount and start the hospital as becomes the city.

The arrangements for those desiring to be admitted can be made from 12 to 1 o'clock each day at the building. Quite a number of applications have already been handed in to Mr. Hirsch.

For the benefit of those who are too ill to apply in person or bring a physician's certificate, a special physician will be at the hospital to respond to their calls.

TRIBUTE TO THE GEORGIA BAR.

Justice Lamar's High Estimate of Our Lawyers—Mr. Wimbish's Return.

Hon. W. A. Wimbish, who carried the county tax case to the United States supreme court, was in the city yesterday on his way back from Washington, where he secured a writ of error after argument before Justice Lamar. The writ of error was also filed in the supreme court of Georgia yesterday morning.

Mr. Wimbish, while in Washington, had a very pleasant conversation with Judge Lamar, who paid a very high tribute to the Georgia bar and the lawyers of the southern states. When the argument was concluded Judge Lamar said to Mr. Wimbish that he was entitled to a writ of error, and remarked further, "It is a pleasure to hear cases that are well prepared, and the Georgia lawyers bring the best prepared cases that come from the whole country. The cases brought by the attorneys general of the southern states are better brought than those from other parts of the country. When one of them brings a case here we know that it is well prepared and will be ably argued."

Speaking in this connection Mr. Wimbish mentioned a handsome compliment which Judge Lamar paid to Hon. W. C. Glenn, referring to his appearance before the United States supreme court some time ago in the Sanges case. Judge Lamar said that Mr. Glenn had done himself injustice by not bringing an elaborate brief, but that his oral argument was one of the finest ever made before that bench and he made a great impression on the court. It will be remembered that Mr. Glenn won the case.

Although Mr. Wimbish and Mr. Glenn are on opposite sides of a hotly contested case, they are warm friends and Mr. Wimbish told with a great deal of satisfaction the estimate in which his opponent is held in Washington.

Mr. Wimbish says very little about himself, but it is well known by members of the bar that his arguments in the county tax case have attracted the attention of the courts and the bar to his unusual ability. His argument upon the mathematical inconsistency of the act, though it does not involve a great law point, yet shows the care with which he had considered the question, and his thorough mastery of its details. The point was that the act provided that the personal property of each railroad should be apportioned for taxation to counties in the proportion which the realty of each county bore to the whole property of the road. Carried out literally this left a surplus of untaxed personalty. The intention of the act, as inferred by the supreme court, was that the personalty be distributed to each county in the ratio of the road's realty in that county to the road's total realty. This made the apportionment sum work out even.

But the great fight Mr. Wimbish makes is on the point that the county tax act is inconsistent with that clause of the fourteenth amendment which declares that no state shall deny to any citizen the equal protection of the laws. He holds that this is unequal taxation and violates that clause.

In the ordinary course of things the case would not be argued for three years but the court has intimated that the case will be advanced and Mr. Wimbish thinks it will be argued at the opening of court in October.

THE CONSTITUTION.

THE ODD FELLOWS' ENTERTAINMENT.

To Be Given at DeGive's the Latter Part of This Month.

The Odd Fellows of Atlanta will give an entertainment under the auspices of Atlanta lodge No. 14, the latter part of the present month, at DeGive's opera house.

An excellent and attractive programme is being arranged by the committee in charge and a splendid treat will be given the large audience that will be in attendance.

The occasion will prove one of more than ordinary interest to mostly every Atlantian, and the success of the affair is already assured. Every Odd Fellow in the city will give the occasion his hearty influence and personal support, that goes without saying. The affair will be excellently conducted by a committee of gentlemen from the various city lodges, and they state that a pleasant time may be expected.

Some of the ablest and most talented soloists, instrumental and vocal, will be included in the programme.

Major Charles W. Hubner and Colonel L. P. Hill have consented to give each an original recitation. The affair will no doubt attract a large and appreciative audience, as it deserves a generous patronage at the hands of all secret order members in the city.

Tickets will be placed on sale at the following places: Miller's book store, Jacobs' pharmacy, Eiseman Bros. and Foote's trunk house.

At 12:30 today Samuel W. Goode & Co., sell at auction Nos. 27 and 29 South Pryor street. Most central lot on the market.

TOMORROW IS THE DAY.

And Bright Prospects Are Promising—The Biggest Day of the Season.

Yes tomorrow morning the cord will be pulled as a signal for the engineer to open the throttle to carry the grocers, their clerks and host of friends from Atlanta to Lithia Springs, where they will picnic.

Thirty-three cars have been engaged. We cannot afford to go to all the picnics, but we can certainly attend one a year, so why not lay aside the cares, perplexities and the thoughts of business for one day, and go to this, the grandest picnic that was ever given by citizens of Atlanta.

There will be plenty of good music. A string band and a brass band have been engaged.

Moreover, the place where this picnic is to be given is surrounded with beautiful and lovely shade trees and the summer breeze has a clear sweep to fan your brow.

Don't miss the chance of going to the biggest, best and grandest picnic of the season.

Tickets can be purchased at the grocery stores of this city.

Round trip tickets, adults, 50 cents.

Round trip tickets, children, only 25 cents.

Trains will leave the union depot at 7, 7:30 and 7:35 a. m.

The Case Was Called.

Florence, S. C., May 23.—(Special.)—The court of general sessions convened here this morning. The grand jury found true bills against Charles S. and W. R. Barringer for the murder of Thomas A. Talbert in March last. The case was called for trial, but was postponed on account of the absence of a witness for the defense who could not be found, and whom it is said never lived here. The sheriff can find no trace of him. Talbert's friends are exceedingly indignant at the action.

The Alaska

Refrigerator.

FACTS WORTH CONSIDERING

The qualities sought for in the refrigerator are Preservation of Perishable Food and an Economical Use of Ice.

The economical use of ice depends entirely upon the principle involved, the construction of the Refrigerator, and in utilizing all the cold air.

Dry atmosphere and uniform temperature can be obtained only by a perfect circulation of the air in the Refrigerator, and its condensation in the ice chamber.

The Alaska is constructed upon strictly scientific principles, by which low temperature and dryness of air are naturally and inevitably obtained.

The Alaska possesses a provision chamber free from odor.

The Alaska produces better results with less ice than any other refrigerator.

The Alaska is a dry-air refrigerator, and the best one ever patented.

EISEMAN BROS.

WANTED—A newspaper mirror. We are tired of calling our Spring Suits by the ear-marked, flat and almost meaningless name of "Ready Made." The scaggiest suit made they call by that name. They call any sort of cloth run under a needle and presser's iron by that name. The very name hardly knows itself it stands for so many different things. What is wanted is some way of showing what our Suits are.

"High Dress" is the only fitting name for them. "Clothing" is too tame, too general. Bring yourself a minute to the details. Here are foreign cloths, made up with artistic eye to elegance, to finish. Are we to let them be classed with common ready-made? You wouldn't if you had them side by side.

MERCHANT TAILORING.

After ransacking the best markets of Europe for cloths, d'ye think we'll spoil them in the making? We employ only the best merchant tailor workmen. We propose to keep the wrinkles out of our tapelines by making the following offer:

For the next four days we will allow a discount of 10 per cent on everything in the Merchant Tailoring Department. A rare chance.

BOYS' DEPARTMENT.

No break in the long line of new, serviceable Suits for boys. Say the word and your boy can have a ball and bat free—we give them away with every Suit sold.
